'HAWAII FOR HAWAIIANS." sociation has also approved the eight-hour IT LOOKS AS IF

The Georgia Senatorial Situation. Discussed at Washington.

NORWOOD'S THE MAN.

ALLIANCE FRIENDLY TO NORWOOD.

A Savannah Man Discusses the Ex-Senator and the Race.

WASHINGTON, August 25 .- [Special.]-The .liveliest interest is manifested here in the senatorial situation in Georgia, and news from Atlanta is eagerly looked for, especially by the senators and representatives from the south.

The programme from this standpoint seems to be arranged. The fight for Senator Brown's seat will be between ex-Senator John B. Gordon and ex-Senator Thomas M. Norwood, and the fight is going to be bitter and

There is every indication that Colonel Norwood will have the alliance vote and the alliance endorsement. His recent letter, declining to be a candidate for congress, National Economist prints and praises as true alliance doctrine. This is of itself enought o warrant the be-lief that Colonel Norwood and alliance are on most friendly Colonel Norwood refused to talk on this most interesting subject, but it is known that he has the confidence of all the alliance leaders here in Washington, and from his home come reports which seem to indicate that he is just as well thought of by the alliancemen there. A well-known Savannah man who is here said today: "Mr. Norwood, as I happen to know, is in full sympathy with the alliance, and both the national and state leaders of that body are looking toward him as the man to carry the alliance standard to victory. He has received a great many letters from Georgia since the state alliance convention concerning his entering the race, and while he has said nothing, he is seriously considering the matter."

In this connection, Colonel Norwood's Savannah friend called attention to an interesting fact.

"Have you ever read Norwood's book, Plutocracy?"" he asked. "If you have, you will remember that it outlines pretty much the condition of affairs that exists in Georgia now. Well, prominent alliancemen have called attention to that, and it may be that his story may prove an item in his return to the senate. Who knows?"

While General Gordon's strength is undoubted, the people here have begun to think everything possible with the alliance, and that now that they have decided to fight Gordon, his defeat is assured.

"It is a fight for principle," said a Georgian today. "It is not the man. Governor Gordon, by his recent speech, has simply flaunted the red rag in the face of the farmer and sent out a challenge to battle. The farmers will fight, and-well, there is somebody else fighting for Norwood, too. But you will see later. Would you be surprised to see Gordon come down before the legislature meets? I wouldn't." Colonel Norwood left for home this morning, as he says, to resume his law practice. The Wild Kansan Makes a Sensation.

There was quite a surprise in the senate to-day when Mr. Plumb, of Kansas, objected to Mr. Aldrich's request for unanimous consent so fix a day for the vote upon the tariff bill. The democrats, through Senator Gorman, consented to the vote being taken on September 8th, and no one had any idea that objection would be made on the republican side. Hence the surprise at Mr. Plumb's position.

Mr. Plumb's objection is, however, due to his decided opposition to many features of the McKinley monstrosity. He wanted time to debate them, and to show them up as he did shis afternoon and has done before.

Unlike Mr. Butterworth, he intends to not only speak, but vote against the bill if it is not amended in certain features; and again he amended in certain features; and again he does not want the reciprocity and other new features to be added without time for debate.

Mr. Plumb's action has made the representative tariff leaders ill at ease, for they do not know what to expect next from the man they have dubbed "the Wild Kansan." Senators Aldrich and Allison have been conferring with the Kansan tonight, and it is understood he will agree tomorrow for a time to vote upon the tariff bill; but he has given notice that he will have more to say about the bill unless some compromise in favor of the western farmers is made.

The Lobby Using Stimulants.

The Lobby Using Stimulants.

The compound lard bill will probably be taken up in the house tomorrow for the final vote. Reed has promised to allow it. By about twenty-five majority the members in the city at present favor the bill and will vote for it if a vote is reached. The southern men and their few northern friends are determined, if possible, to prevent a vote. They will fillbuster, and if Reed cuts them off in this, they would not hesitate to retire in large numbers from the house and leave it without a quorum. The exact plan of battle cannot yet be told. Circumstances will decide it. The southern members have received large numbers of telegrams from their people all over the south today petitioning them to resort to every possible neans to defeat the infamous bill. The telegrams have stirred them up, and the fight they will make will be a gallant one. On the other hand, the big lard lobby employed by Squires & Co. is working tonight with a vim and spending money lavishly on refreshments and stimulants of all kinds.

The Destitution in Oklahoms.

The Destitution in Oklahoma The Destitution in Oklahoms.

WASHINGTON, August 25.—A special land inspector of the interior department, who has been investigating the reported destitution in Oklahoma, telegraphs Secretary Noble that:

Alter many days of house-to-house inspection, I find fully one-third of the people need aid; two-thirds of the farmers need seed wheat; many are new in want of food; no work; nothing to sell; prospects gloomy; extreme south of the territory not quite so bad.

Washington, August 25.—As a result of the investigation by local steamboat inspectors of the Sea Wing disaster on Lake Pepin, the license as master and pilot of Captain Wetherin, who commanded the steamer, has been revoked, and he has been reported to the United States attorney for prosecution.

The Natives Tired of Being Ruled by For-eigners—An Uprising Expected.

SEATTLE, Wash., August 25.—Admiral Brown, of the flagship Charleston, which has arrived here from Honolulu, expressed the belief, in an interview, that the next steamer from the Hawaiian islands would bring news of a revolution and probably of the declaration of a new republic. He said:

"Hitherto the Hawaiian government has been managed largely by Europeans and Americans, but the educated natives are beginning to feel that they are competent to conduct the Hawaiian government, and that the part played by foreigners in control of affairs was an unwarrantable interference with their sacred rights. Accordingly the schooled natives have gathered around them a band of followers, daily increasing in strength, who have raised the cry. 'Hawaii for Hawaiians.'
The revolutionists want the offices at the dis-The revolutionists want the offices at the disposal of the government. The malcontents have, in meetings with the Mechanics Union, passed resolutions asking that this patronage be given to natives and members of their own party. This request has been ig bred by the government. The United States, knowing the unsettled condition of affairs, sent the Charleston, out there about three months ago to protect our citizens and our interests. A good deal of American property has accumulated in the islands, which I was instructed to protect. During all of my stay there, matters were becoming more and more perturbed, and an uprising by the revolutionists had actually been planned for the 4th of August. I learned of it on the first day of the month, but we received sailing orders on the second. News of our intended departure evidently led the revolutionary party to postpone until after we left the execution of their design; but I confidently expect to hear by the next advices from Honolulu that there has been an active outbreak and a revolution attenuated if not really accomplished." been an active outbreak and a revolution at-tempted, if not really accomplished."

SMALLPOX IN TEXAS.

The Disease Is Spreading and Cause Alarm.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., August 25 .- [Special.]-The smallpox outbreak in this part of Texas and along the Mexican border is becoming so widespread as to cause much alarm.

In this city the disease is spreading, and, while a few days ago there were only a few cases, there are now twenty-five or thirty. There is seldom a time that smallpox does not prevail here to a greater or less degree, but heretofore the pestilence was always contined to the Mexican and negro quarters of the city. Now, however, there are at least a dozen serious cases in the midst of the fashionable sidence center of the city

The health authorities are taking no steps looking to the extermination of the disease, and none of the patients have been removed

At Waco the outbreak of smallpox has be come so serious as to necessitate the establishment of a quarantine. There are a number of cases at Lockhart, while Eagle Pass and several other of the towns along the Mexican border are under quarantine regulations. At Eagle Pass the disease is very fatel and many deaths have occurred.

SENATOR VANCE'S AMENDMENT.

Giving the Secretary of the Treasury Power to Assess Duty in Certain Cases. WASHINGTON, August 25 .- Senator Vanc today proposed an amendment to the tariff bill which provides that in all cases where it can be shown by proof satisfactory to the secretary of the treasury that any goods, wares or merchandise imported into this country have been purchased abroad by any citizen of the United States, by exchange of farm products grown in the United States for such goods, or where such goods have been purchased with proceeds or avails of such farm products in foreign countries, such goods, wares or merchandise shall be imported at the following rates of duty, towit: One-half the present duty on all manufactures of iron and steel; 40 per cent of the present duty on all woolen or cotton goods, or articles of which wool or cotton may be component materials of chief value; one-half the present duty on earthenware, china and glassware; 30 per cent of the present rate of duty on all material used for fertilizers or in the manufacture thereof; and 25 per cent of the present rate of duty on jute bagging and farmers' binding twine. chandise imported into this country have been

THE TRAIN STRUCK A COW. And a Terrible Wreck Was Caused by It-

BALTIMORE, August 25 .- A special to The Sun from Lynchburg, Va., says: Last evening a wreck occurred on the Norfolk and Western railroad, near Brown's siding. An extra freight train struck a cow and derailed the engine and tender, killing Engineer Cook instantly. The fireman escaped unhurt. The car next to the engine was thrown down an embankment on top of an Italian shanty, pinning the occupants to the floor. One escaped from the building, only to be killed by a falling gondola car. One of those pinned to the floor was killed, one injured internally and will probably die, while seven received only slight injuries. Engineer Cook was from

DEATH OF A CONGRESSMAN.

Mr. Watson, of Pennsylvania, Dies Suddenly of Heart Disease.

Washington, August 25.—Representative Lewis F. Watson, of Pennsylvania, died very suddenly this morning in this city. He was about to enter a carriage at the Shoreham hotel to drive to the capitol, about 11 o'clock, when he was suddenly overcome by an attack of heart disease and died soon after, being car-

A Big Camp Meeting.

A Big Camp Meeting.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., August 25.—[Special.]—Yesterday was undoubtedly the greatest day ever known in the history of the Hickory Grove camp meeting, so far as the number of attendants was concerned.

The camp grounds and surrounding territory were literaly filled with people, and it looked like a team was tied to every available bush and tree. Fully 1,000 people from Charlotte alone were there, and the entire crowd was estimated all the way from 6,000 to 10,000. People were there from Mecklenburg, Cabarrus, Union, Stanley, Montgomery and Anson counties. The greatest dinners ever known in the groves there were spread, and the main work of the meeting—that of making converts—was a most gratifying success. Good order prevailed throughout the crowd, and the camp meeting was, altogether, a most-wonderful success in all particulars.

Southern markets also showed depression. Cotion on spot was dull and 3-16c lower. THEY WILL NOT ORDER A STRIKE.

Decision of the Council of the Federation

ON THE NEW YORK CENTRAL STRIKE

They Sympathize with the Knights But Cannot Strike.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., August 25 .- The official statement of the supreme council of the United Order of Railway Employes of the result of their conference over the New York Central strike is a very long document, largely composed of a history of the Central strike and condemnation of Vice President Webb. The strike of the Central men is given the seal of approval and Mr. Powderly's course is praised, but the council say that, owing to the fact that the order of Knights of Labor are not members of the federated orders of railway emyloyes, the laws of the supreme council do not permit more than it has done to aid the Knights of Labor. A telegram was sent to Mr. Powderly this vening, after the council adjourned, in which Powderly was teld that:

The council was unanimous in endorsing your position and the position of the grand executive board, and most earnestly hopes that the right which you are championing in the great conflict on the New York Central may finally and power-

W. A. SHEARER, Secretary.
MR. POWDERLY IN ALBANY.

ALBANY, N. Y., August 25.—General Mas-ter Workman Powderly, and four or five members of the general executive board, arrived here this morning, and spent the entire day in conference with district assembly 246, and hearing the statements of twenty or thirty of men whose discharge constituted the grievance which led to the strike.

Mr. Powderly reiterates the assertion that his investigations have confirmed his convic-tion that the discharges were the results of a preconceived plan to drop all prominent leaders in the circle of the knights. Sothing has as yet been given to the public as to the intentions of the Knights of Labor, nor any utterance as to the action of the conference at Terre Haute. No aggressive move has been made today.

THE STOCK YARDS' STRIKE. CHICAGO, August 25.—Nothing definite has developed in the situation at the stock yards today. The receipts of cattle, hogs and sheep are very heavy, and Armour is killing a few for the city trade and to fill orders for Boston, Philadelphia and elsewhere. Swift and Nelson Morris are not killing. Their houses have been shut down, and 5,000 men who went expecting to work this morning were forced to remain idle. There was nothing for them to do. This morning Armour applied for police protection, and twenty officers were sent to his house. Mr. Morris also received a guard. It is expected that some of the reads will attempt to handle some of the fresh meat that is in danger of spoiling. If they do it will probably precipitate trouble. No coal is being handled at the yards today.

The result of the meetings of the superintendents and managers of the various railroads in the city this morning and afternoon to settle the strike at the stockyards, was a victory for the men. They demanded an increase of pay of 3 cents an hour for engineers and 1½ cents an hour for firemen. Their demands were conceded and the strike and the strike order. are very heavy, and Armour is killing a few

The switchmen strike.

In an hour after a settlement had been reached of the engineers' and firemen's strike, work was resumed as usual. This morning, however, the switchmen of the association, thinking the time propitious for a demand for an increase of their wages, and hoping to profit by the victory of the firemen and engineers, held a little meeting, and resolved to demand an increase of 3 cents per hour. Without any formality, and before their demand could be officially communicated to the association, the THE SWITCHMEN STRIKE. formality, and before their demand could be officially communicated to the association, the switchmen declared a strike, and at 6.30 this evening every man left his post and the stockyards were once more tied up. The outcome of this latter strike cannot be predicted. The principal cause of the association contesting the first strike was that the engineers and firemen first struck and made their demands afterwards, instead of first submitting their demands for acceptance or rejection. Now the switchmen have committed the same offense of tying up the yards without first giving the association an intimation of first giving the association an intimation of their grievances and demands, and the latter may conclude to fight the strike as an occasion for disciplining the men into recognizing the rights of the company.

No Bricks Until the Boycott Is Off. No Bricks Until the Boycott Is Off.

New York, August 25.—The executive committee of the Brick Manufacturers' Association met here today, when it transpired that 95 per cent of all manufacturers on the Hudson and in New Jersey had signed a contract, formulated by the association, not to ship any more bricks to New York and Brooklyn until the boycott had been raised on the Verplanck yards, instituted by the union. The remaining 5 per cent have verbally agreed to the contract.

the contract. The present trouble between the brick man-The present trouble between the brick manufacturers and building trades' unions in this city, Brooklyn and Jersey City, bids fair to be a decidedly serious character. From present indications, it is said to be a matter of only about two days before the entire building operations in the three cities must stop, and fully, if not more than 100,000 workmen be forced out of employment. The manufacturers state that they have received word from Philadelphia that the brick makers there have agreed to support them and not ship bricks to New York.

The Leather Workers' Strike.

The Leather Workers' Strike.

Lynn, Mass., August 25.—Three shops of the Morocco Manufacturers' Association were declared free shops this morning. Lennox & Co. of Peabody, were the first and have received forty men, paying what they considered the men worth. Lynch Bros., of Beverly, have a force of non-union men on, and N. Weber has six green hands at work. This act will soon be followed by several other shops. The locked out finishers have maintained perfect order. Lennox & Co., of Peabody, have advertised for help in their morocco factory from sixteen years of age up. A Boston man is here ready to furnish sixty Armenians, if any one desires to hire them. It is now entirely probable that the beamsters and tanners will strike.

The Seamen's Strike in Australia The Seamen's Strike in Australia

The Seamen's Strike in Australia Melbourne and Sydney, whose business has been greatly interfered with by the demands of the Seamen's Union, held a conference and addressed a letter to the union, refusing to employ any officer belonging to the union, on the ground that such a course would be utterly subversive of discipline. The letter added that the average profits of trade are under 5 per cent, and that, as a compliance with the demands of the men would entail an annual loss of £200,000, the only alternative is to lay up the vessels. Non-union labor is abundant in Sydney.

The Trouble in Belgium.

BRUSSELS, August 25.—The public sympathizes with the strikers and condemns the attitude of the employers. The Courier de Bruxelles says that at a meeting of strikers, delegates from the Cadry coal district, it was decided to fisue a manifeste calling upon the men to prepare for a general strike after the suffrage congress in September next.

KILLED BY A BUZZARD.

The Peculiar Occurrence Which Startled

Some Farm Hands. CHARLOTTE, N. C., August 25 .- [Special]-On the Wadsworth model farm, just west of the city, Saturday afternoon, something very

the city, Saturday afternoon, something very unusual occurred about 4 o'clock.

The farm hands were disturbed by the loud, agonized squealing of a pig. After a good deal of looking about they finally located the pig in the top of a sweet gum tree in the pasture and they were astonished to see that the cause of the squealing was the fact that it was being eaten alive by a buzzard.

They stoned the bird, when it flew away. Carrying the squealing pig in its claws, it alighted in a field a quarter of a mile distant, and when the farm hands got there they found the pig dead.

and when the farm hands got there they found the pig dead.

An investigation of the pasture showed that a litter of young pigs had been attacked by the voracious birds and three pigs were in a dying condition, the flesh having been torn from their legs.

PIG IRON PRODUCTS.

A Great Increase for the First Six Months of the Year. PHILADELPHIA, August 25.—This week's bulletin of the American Iron and Steel Assobulletin of the American Iron and Steel Association will say:

We present in this issue another notable advance in the production of pig iron in the United States. The total production of pig iron in this country in the first six months of 1890 was 5,169,737 net tons, or 4,615,836 gross tons, an increase of 754,653 net tons over the production in the last six months of 1889, when we produced 4,415,081 net tons, and each half year, except one. since July 1, 1882, has witnessed an increase, in most instances a very heavy increase over the production of the preceding half year. But the increase in the first half of 1890 over the last half of 1889 has elipsed all previous half-yearly increases. Each important pig iron producing state-shared in the increased production in the first half of 1890 over the last half of 1890 per cent with light made more pig iron in the first half of this year than in the first half of 1889. The proportion of Pennsylvania in total production in the last half of 1889 was 49 per cent. Ohio 14 per cent. Alabama 26 per cent and Illinois 7.2 per cent. In the first half of 1890 the proportion of Pennsylvania was 49.2 per cent. Ohio 12.2 per cent.

PORT HURON, Mich., August 25.—Workmen engaged upon the two ends of St. Clair river tunnel, between Port Huron and Sarnia, Ont, shook hands with each other this morning under St. Clair river and made the great subterranean highway re-echo with their cries. Bishop O'Dwyer's Letter.

LIMERICK, August 25.—In response to the demonstration made here yesterday as a protest against his course in regard to Mr. Dillon, Bishop O'Dwyer writes that the shouts of the multitude fail to settle the controversy. It was improper of Mr. Dillon, the bishop says, to attempt to rouse the passions of the people against their bishop, while ignoring his explanation of the charges brought by him against Mr. Dillon. In conclusion, Bishop O'Dwyer withdraws all imputations of personal dishonesty against Mr. Dillon.

A Banquet to Dr. Peters.

A Banquet to Dr. Peters. A Banquet to Dr. Peters.

Berlin, August 25.—A banquet was given to Dr. Peters at Kaisershof this evening. Minister Hoffmann having toasted the emperor, Dr. Schweinfurth proposed the health of the guest of the evening, whom he referred to as an intrepid man who had secured Germany's hold in east Africa, and who had so unconsciously regained Heligoland. This expedition, said the speaker, was intended to relieve Emin and not to bring him forcibly back. Many distinguished explorers were present.

POLITICAL NEWS THROUGH THE SOUTH.

Every Indication of Two State Tickets in South Carolina.

SENATOR BUTLER AS A PEACEMAKER,

The Mississippi Convention and the Elective Franchise.

CHARLESTON, S. C., August 25 .- [Special.] Senator M. C. Butler arrived in Columbia today, and will attend the straightout demo cratic conference which is to meet tomorrow and which will probably decide whether there is to be a split in the democratic party.

Senator Butler, it is said, is to appear in the role of peacemaker, and the rumor prevails in democratic circles here that his proposition is that the straightouts will swallow Tillman upon his promise that the legislature will not interfere with Hampton's and Butler's seat in the senate.

No such compromise will be agreed to here Another report is that Congressman George D. Tillman, of the second district, is about to come home to look after his fences. He is a brother of the candidate for governor, and it was thought he would have a walkover for relection, despite the fact that he has kicked his heels and snapped his fingers at the alliance yard-stick and the subtreasury scheme.

Lately, however, one W. I. Tolbert, the alliance state lecturer, has come out as a candidate for Tillman's district, and this has made the squabble here. It is said that he is loaded with anti-alliance ammunition, much of which he gathered from Congressman Amos S. Cummings, and that he threatens to come here and shoot it off.

Tolbert's candidacy, it is said, includes the buying off of George Tillman by advancing him to the senate in Hampton's place, but Mr. Tillman swears that he "don't want to go among those old fogies in the senate." He prefers the popular branch.

The prospects for a split in the party are not diminishing. There are two executive committees, the regular democratic committee and the one elected by the August convention. As far as can be learned both chairmen will attempt to call the state nominating convention to order. There will be two sets of delegates present from each county, Tillman and anti-Tillman, and unless the Tillmanite chairman yields there will probably be two democratic conventions in the same hall and two democratic state tickets in the field. That is the outlook at present, although the programme may be changed by the conference The straightouts are very much encouraged by the result of the congressional primary in the third district. The alliance candidate, D. K. Norris, received only 4,700 votes out of a total of nearly 12,000, the other 7,300 votes being divided among four anti-alliance candi-dates. There was no election. The straight-outs claim that this shows that Tillman has not a majority of the whole voters in the state.

The Tillmanites Meet in Charleston.

The Tillmanites had a meeting of their central committee tonight and decided to take part in the democratic primary elections next week for delegates to the nominating conven-tion to be held September 5th. They say that they lost many votes at the last primary of democrats who would not vote with them because they were opposed to Tillman, but now that Tillman's nomination is assured, these sorehead democrats will come up and help break up the county ring. Tickets will be put out in every ward, and Chairman John D. Murphy and Deputy Chairman John B. Reeves seem confident that they will carry the democratic county convention and elect a Tillman delegation to Columbia and Tillman county officers. So great is the enthusiasm that some of the Tillman candidates for county offices are already looking for their official bondsmen.

In the last convention the Tillmanites had twenty out of 102 delegates, having carried the sixth and seventh wards. In the county convention they say they will carry the fourth ward by twenty delegates and the sixth, sev-enth and eighth by thirty-two delegates, givng them a majority in the convent

The straightouts on the other hand expect to carry every ward in the city and all the

THEY WANT SOME FAT PLACES. The Negroes of North Carolina Denounce the White Republicans.

RALEIGH, N. C., August 25 .- [Special.]-Many leading negroes began to gather here today in readiness to attend their state convention tomorrow.

The convention is now certain to be well attended. John H. Williamson will be permanent chairman. The sentiment among the delegates is overwhelmingly in favor of demanding a share of the patronage and the downfall of those republican white men who have so long ruled the blacks. The negroes will denounce these, and will declare that they, and not the white men, represent the republican party in North Carolina.

It was at first thought a resolution denounc-ing President Harrison would be adopted. The leaders of the movement say tonight that they have information that the president intended to treat the negroes fairly, but was misled by the statements of the white republicans who went to Washington after the elec-tion, and assured him that the appointment of negroes to any position of prominence would ruin the party in North Carolina.

The negroes say that if they cannot find straightforward white republicans as candidates they will nominate negroes. The white republicans are working like beavers tonight to defeat the plans of the convention, and will seek to buy off its members, as the latter openly charge.

NEARLY READY TO REPORT. The Elective Franchise Committee of the Mississippi Convention.

JACKSON, Miss., August 25.—The committee on elective franchise of the Mississippi con-stitutional convention has practically completed its labors, and will be ready to report in a day or two. The committee was in session all day, considering the report of the sub-committee on apportionment, which has been outlined in these dispatches. This apportion-ment will give the whites a majority of nine in the senate and twenty in the house. It provides for an educational qualification limited to a knowledge of reading and writing, or in liest thereof a property qualification of $150, for a residence in the state of two years and the prepayment of a poll tax of $2. It is suggested by the subcommittee that the educational and property qualification requirements remain inoperative until the year 1896, and that in that time all elections be held under the Australian system, as embodied in the Dortch law of the state of Tennessee. Whether these recommendations will receive the assent of the full committee, or of the convention, it is impossible to say. Nothing is certain, except that a majority of the delegates favor the Dortch law.

The convention met at 3:30 o'clock p. m. today, but transacted no business beyond re-ferring to committees a dozen or so of the pro-posed constitutional amendments of minor im-

A Negro Candidate for Congress. RALEIGH, N. C., August 25.—[Special.]—fohn S. Leary, colored, is announced as the John S. Leary, colored, is announced as the candidate for congress from the third district. He is a very intelligent man, a native of Fayetteville, and is a professor in the large negro university in the state. He will receive the negro support, it being announced as the policy of the negroes that they will put up men of their own race as candidates for congress in all cases where the white men nominated by the republicans are not satisfactory.

The Oklahoma Election. The Oklahoma Election.

OKLAHOMA CITY, I. T., August 25.—The total vote cast at Saturday's election in this county was 2,175, of which Nagle, democrat candidate for representative at large, received 1,055; Colson, republican, 955. For county representative, Neal, democrat, has a majority of 261 over Miller, republican. Powell, union labor candidate, received 169 votes. The result of the election does not change the political complexion of the legislature, the republicans having a majority of two.

nounced the sentence that she be hanged October 17th at Kinston.

The Morton woman's victim was a white woman named Julia Morgan, who was called out of her house at night and shot dead, the sassin being concealed behind a chimney. Only three women have been legally hanged in this state in twenty-five years.

FIGHTING AMONG THEMSELVES

A Bloody Affray Between Soldiers and Citizens.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., August 25 .- [Special.]-Information has reached here from Sabinas Mexico, of an affray which occurred there yesterday morning.

The military escort accompanying the pay car of the Mexican International railways, all got on a drunken spree at Sabinas leaving the pay car unguarded. The soldiers became noisy and their arrest was attempted by the police, when a fight ensued, and a citizen named Danancio Darrila was killed by one of the soldiers.

The soldiers were all finally arrested and

A FESTIVE DRUMMER.

He Came from Boston and Figured in Anniston Police Circles.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., August 25 .- [Special.] The Boston drummer who insulted a young lady in Anniston, Ala., gave his name as Rohm. He saw a poor, but fair and fascinating young lady on the streets a few days since, and presuming too much on her chastity, wrote her a note, enclosing $1, and requesting her to take a ride or walk with him. She promptly turned the letter over to the police and requested the man's arrest. He plead guilty in the recorder's court this morning and was fined $18.

They Killed Each Other. LOUISVILLE, August 25.—Near Stanford, Ky., Boss Hamilton and R. Ferguson shot each other to death on Thursday. Hamilton was walking with his wife, when Ferguson beckened to him to come forward. Hamilton handed a bundle to his wife, and the men walked together a few yards and then almost simultaneously drew their revolvers and began to shoot.

A Small Burglary.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., August 25.—[Special.]—
Mr.J. H. Willis keeps a store on Trade street, opposite the courthouse. Some time during Saturday night thieves got in a back window and helped themselves to whatever of his goods suited their fancy. Among other things they took two boxes of cigars, twelve pounds of sugar and three pounds of butter, and did not forget the cash drawer, from which they secured $1.50. A Small Burglary.

A Cloudburst in the Southwest. A Cloudburst in the Southwest.

New Obleans, August 25.—A Times-Democrat El Paso, Tex., special says that between thirty-five and forty houses were washed away last evening in Juarez and sixty families rendered homeless by a cloudburst. A street traversed by one of the bursts was almost obliterated. Dwellings on both sides were submerged and destroyed. Both railroad and street car tracks formed dams for the flood, and many parrow ascapes were made. Two and many narrow escapes were made. Two persons only were drowned.

Lookout Inn. CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., August 25.—[Special.]—Lookout inn, on Lookout mountain, changed hands today, R. L. Watkins and W. O. Peeples selling their interest to M. M. Henderson. The latter, with Hugh Whiteside and Watkins, owns the controlling interest in the inn. The entire property is valued at $180,000.

HIS VISIT SAID TO BE PURELY

But He and Mrs. Felton Attract Great At tention, and the Talk is Political-An

Rome, Ga., August 25 .- [Special.]-Dr and Mrs. W. H. Felton came over from Cartersville this afternoon, and are stopping with Mr. J. L. Camp, on Second avenue. It is claimed that this is only a social visit, and that no political significance at taches to it. But the elegant parlors of Mr. Camp are crowded tonight with the friends of Dr. and Mrs. Felton, and the drift of the talk is necessarily on the present political situation in the seventh.

Dr. Felton is in fine health, and appears as vigorous as he did ten years ago. He is evidently pleased at the earnestness and enthusiasm of his friends, and is willing to make the race for congress if nominated by the convention, to meet in Rome Sep tember 3d.

That is, as he expresses it, "if the 'straightout democrats' of the seventh see proper to make him their standard bearer.' He talks freely on the political situation and does not hesitate to criticize what he believes to be the undemocratic measures of the alliance. There seems to be no doubt, at this time, that Dr. Felton's nomination will be made by acclamation by the Rome convention He will then take the stump as an advocate of old-fashioned democratic doctrines, and the fun will begin in earnest.

The excitement in Floyd county grows more intense every day, and now it seems that a vigorous fight is inevitable. News comes from Walker county this evening that petitions are being circulated over that county asking Dr. Felton to speak at LaFayette on Thursday, and it is very probable that he will go. If he decides to address the people, there will be an immense crowd to hear him. I asked him tonight if he would consent to speak at La-Fayette on Thursday. He was not fully decided, but said that he would determine by morning. There is already talk of making up a special train from Rome to accomm crowd to LaFayette, if Dr. Felton speaks.

The interest that has developed in this con gressional district in the last ten days is almost unprecedented, and everybody is talking politics. The alliance is strong, but the opposition is strong, too.

WILL REPRESENT HEARD,

And Will Enter the Race for the Speakership.

FRANKLIN, Ga. August 25 .- [Special.]-Ex Senator R. H. Jackson has been chosen by the democrats of Heard county as their representative in the next Georgia house of representatives. For the past two months the legislative race in Heard county has been an exceedingly close one, Hon. W. H. Daniels who represented Heard in the last house, being Mr. Jackson's opponent. There has been much interest felt in the contest, both gentlemen having many friends, and Senator Jackson's friends are very much gratified at the result.

An additional interest is added to this race It is generally understood that Hon. R. H. Jackson will enter the contest for the speaker ship of the house. He was the first president of the Georgia State Farmers' Alliance, and has many friends and admirers in the alliance throughout the state who would like to see him in that high position.

THIRD DISTRICT NEGROES.

They Endorse Dave Dudley, and Nominate

Peter Gibson for Congress. AMERICUS, Ga., August 25 .- [Special.]-The republican congressisnal convention for the third district, assembled in Americus today and nominated Peter O. Gibson, of Dodge county, to oppose Judge Crisp. He is the same negro who made a feeble effort to defeat Judge Crisp two years ago. The nomina tion was unanimous and by acclamation.

The convention also unanimously passed a esolution endorsing Dave Dudley for the Americus postoffice. Abe Hirsch, who is also a candidate for the Americus postoffice, was he only white republican present, and the proceedings plainly showed that he was in bad odor with his colored brethren.

The announcements so far made are as follows: For sheriff, H. B. Anderson, the present incumbent, and A. H. S. Davis; for treasurer, J. F. Henderson, the present incumbent, and A. S. Franklin; for tax collector, W. S. Lee, R. L. Loyd, J. S. Peek, and J. L. Hays; and for tax receiver, J. W. Stephenson, the present incumbent, and T. A. Walker.

For several days there has been talk of an independent candidate for the legislature in opposition to Mr. H. L. Graves, the democratic nominee. The announcement of the candi-

The announcement was withdrawn today before any copies of the paper had been printed, and now it is not probable that Mr. Graves will have any opposition.

The Alliance and Direct Trade-News Note of Interest.

SHADY DALE, Ga., August 25 .- [Special.] The alliance of Jasper county heartily approves of the proposition of the governor of Georgia calling a convention of the governors of the cotton states to meet in Atlanta on the 10th of September, to formulate some plan by which trade direct with Liverpool may be opened. It must come sooner or later, and to do the south justice should begin at as early a day as is practical. The Governor to Address Alliancemen. EATONTON, Ga., August 25 .- [Special.]-Governor John B. Gordon has accepted an invitation to address the alliance of Putnam ounty on Friday, August 29th, at Wesley Chapel, near Eatonton, where one of the largest gatherings of alliancemen ever assembled in Georgia will take place. Every nominee of the next legislature from adjoining counties has been specially invited to be on hand. Great crowds are expected. Putnam will give her governor a cordial welcome.

A Candidate's Unique Promise. LAGRANGE, Ga., August 25 .- [Special.]-W. J. He is a one-legged ex-confederate, having lost his limb in the late war, and is a very worthy citizen. His old comrades worked hard for his nomination.

NOTES FROM COVINGTON.

The First Bale-Arrested for Burglary-Camp Meeting. Covington, Ga., August 25 .-- [Special.]-

The first bale of new cotton was brought in to-day by Mr. A. C. Heard. It was classed low middling, weighed 484 pounds, and was bought by Messrs. J. A. B. Stewart & Sons at 11 cents a pound. They shipped it to Mr. S. M. Whitney, of Augusta. A negro man, Tom Dickerson, was arrested by Marshal H. I. Horton, on suspicion of having been concerned in the burglaries committed at the residences of Captain J. M. Pace and Mr. L. D. Adams, as heretofore reported. He had a preliminary trial today, and upon proof that his footprints corresponded with some found near the scene of the burglaries, and some other suspicious circumstances, he was committed to jail to answer to the offense of burglary at the next term of Newton superior

The Confederate Veterans' Association of The Confederate Veterans' Association of Newton county held their regular monthly meeting here today. Only routine business was transacted. There was one application presented for membership, that of Mr. T. F. Piper, who was a member of the Fifty-third Georgia regiment.

Camp meeting is in progress at Salem camp ground, about eight miles from this place, and the attendance on yesterday was quite large. Rev. Mr. Moon, of Conyers, preached a fine sermon at 11 o'clock a. m., and Dr. J. S. Moore, of Oxford, also preached a fine sermon in the afternoon. Dr. W. S. Candler was expected to preach during the meeting, but has been prevented from so doing by his sickness. His condition is improved, but it will doubtless be some time before he is entirely well.

CLOSED ON A MORTGAGE.

A Savannah Firm Goes to the Wall Under a $40,000 Lien.

SAVANNAH, Ga., August 25.—[Special.]— Epstein & Wannabacker, wholesale dealers in groceries, liquors, cigars and tobacco, were closed today by Samuel Herman on a mortgage of $40,000 cash advances. The firm immediately secured its Savannah creditors. Liabilities are $175,000, nearly equally divided between Savannah and eastern and northwestern creditors. Assets are $75,000. The firm did an annual business of $250,000.

Here Is a Brave Woman.

THOMASVILLE, Ga., August 25 .- [Special.] Mrs. Avery, wife of Engineer Avery, has proven herself a plucky woman. Her home is on Smith avenue, and Friday, while all were absent but one or two ladies, fire was discovered on the roof by a small boy. Knowing the flames would gain too great a headway before assistance arrived, she mounted the roof of the tall residence and tore off the burning shingles with her hands until water could be handed up. Her prompt action was successful, and the dwelling was saved.

A Hotel Jumper.

THOMASVILLE, Ga., August 25 .- [Special.] Proprietor Stuart of the Stuart house, would very much like to find one C. H Schroefer alias Newton, alias Howard. This gentleman of numerous names left here without the formality of settling his board bill, amounting to $18. Mr. Stuart went up to Albany yesterday to look him up, but he had just left the without paying his board at the Mayor hotel. The board jumper is attractive in dress and general appearance, and says he is a revenue officer, detective and bar tender, naming as his occupation what he thinks would best suit his chance. He registered from Savannah.

SYLVANIA, Ga., August 25.—[Special.]—Mrs.
Omer, wife of Rev. R. V. Omer, of the Christian church, died at her home here yesterday morning, after a sickness of about two weeks.
She was a most estimable lady in every respect, and was beloved by every one. She will be greatly missed by the young people of Sylvania, particularly, who were yery much attached to her. Her remains were followed to the cemetery at the Baytist church yesterday afternoon by a large convourse of sorrowing friends and sadly consigned to their last resting place.

MACON YOUNG MEN

WILL TAKE A HAND IN POLITICS THIS YEAR.

The Trades' Display Is the Big Thing Just Some Interesting News and 6 sip from the Central City.

MACON. Ga., August 25,-[Special.]-They are fully aroused in the legislative ce and propose to make a strong fight. They represent the intelligence, breeding and enterprise of Macon, and will have a telling effect on the coming race.

They have issued a call for a meeting to be held at the courthouse tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. The following is the call hande 1 to THE CONSTITUTION today for publication: THE CONSTITUTION today for publication:

MACON, Ga., August 25.—To the Democratic Voters of Bibb County: At a meeting of the Young Men's Democratic League, organized on Saturday night, it was decided to call a meeting of the democratic voters of the county at the courthouse on Tuesday night, the 28th instant, at 8 o'clock, and the undersigned were directed to give public notice of the meeting,
The object of the organization is to preserve the integrity of the democratic nearty to promote the public notice of the meeting.

The object of the organization is to preserve the integrity of the democratic party, to promote the integrity of the democratic party, to promote the interests of Bibb county, and especially of the city of Macon. All democrats who are interested in the growth and progress of our city are invited to be present and enroll their names as members.

It was further decided that the meeting held on Tuesday night would take into consideration the question of endorsing three suitable candidates to represent the county in the next legislature. The young democrats are, and ever have been, those on whom naturally and properly rests the active campaign work of their party. We believe that they will cheerfully accept the burden, and to that end we invite the young democrats of Bibb county to unite with us in the effort to preserve the party and promote the city's interests.

There is a breath of independentism in the air. We recognize the fact that the future of our city and our state depends upon the prompt and united action of the young democracy.

We, therefore, cordially invite all democrats to be present in order that our efforts may have the joint benefit of the wise counsel of older heads and the energetic action of our young men.

The Trades! Display.

The beginning of another week sees Macon's trades' display on a good, solid footing, and its rospects for success more flattering than ever.
The trades' display is in the mouth of every one. Merchants stop on the corners and dis cuss it. The ladies think of it and talk of it, and the children speak of it in joyful anticipa-

Neighboring towns have heard of it, and are looking forward to October 24th with pleasure. Newspapers throughout the state are taking up the cry, and are announceing to the people that Macon is to have the greatest rade carnival ever witnessed in Georgia. Macon merchants are at work in dead earnest, and talk is not all they indulge in. Every one of them are thinking about their floats, and trying to devise plans. Many of them have already determined on what they will have, and to The Constitution they tell of floats that will startling in their conception dazzling in their beauty. A few have already gone to work. They recognize the fact that it will take time to arrange what they desire, and they don't intend to fail in their under taking. The floats are all right. There'll be no trouble about floats. They will be novel, beautiful, grand, and there'll be many of them Three hundred can be safely counted on, and

The merchants are all right. They are going to do their part.

Money Needed—One great thing that has to be considered is the raising of sufficient funds to carry out the project. This matter has been left alone entirely, but the merchants are now ready to give it a little attention and the work will go forward at once.

There is little doubt but that all will respond liberally and that by the end of the week enough money will have been secured to carry out the carnival in a style as grand and dazzling as has ever been contemplated. The people of Macon are going to make a as success of their trades' display and stand ready to contribute their dollars.

How much will be required is the ques tion that is asked by many. It is generally conceded that $2,000 will be sufficient to carry out the affair in good style. Less than this am could not do it, and it is earnestly hoped that the people will make up their minds to put this much money in the hands of the treasurer. A committee will probably start to work to-morrow, and they should meet with quick and liberal donations.

Every citizen who takes an interest in Every citizen who takes an interest in Macon, will be glad to contribute his part in securing such a great thing for his city as the trades' display will be.

It is desired to have eight or ten bands of music in the procession. Besides this, allegorical floats, independent of the individual floats, will have to be arranged. Many Other minor things will have to be paid for, so at the least calculation, $2,000 is as little as can be used. The merchants and citizens of Macon generally, are counted upon to see that the amount is raised without trouble. The list of contributions will be published from day to day. Let it start off with $500. The city council will be asked to help the project, and it is supposed several hundred dollars will be secured from this source. Other cities contribute money to entertainments of this character. When it is known of what great benefit it will be to the city, the city council will hardly fail to do Macon justice in this matter. They will aid the trades' display.

No Danger. The editor of The Boston Advertiser addressed a letter to Mayor Price to the effect that the question of overhead wires was being agitated in Boston, from the fact that a few horses had been killed there recently, and asking the mayor to give the result of such a system in Macon. The following was the mayor's reply, which was published in The Advertiser: which was published in The Advertiser:

Mayors's Office, Macon, Ga., August 7.—

To the Editor of The Advertiser: Owing to the great width of our streets, from 100 to 150 feet, the danger, if any, from overhead wires, is less than in cities of narrow streets. So far no casualties have resulted either to persons or property, and people feel no apprehension for the reason stated. Respectfully,

Mr. Chisholm arranged the bond, got the boy discharged, and sent him home with his father tonight.

The Colored Teach August A. Ga., August 25.—[Special.]—The second week of the Peabody Institute for colored teachers, opened auspiclously at Bethel African Methodist Episcopal church in Augusta this morning. The first week was held in Milledgeville, but the attendance was not encouraging and it was removed to Augusta, where it would be more largely patronized. There were about seventy-five teachers in attendance today. Lawton B. Evans, superintendent of the public schools of this county, is conducting the institute.

A BABY IN A BASKET. The Present Mr. S. J. Hargrove Re-

From The Amerieus, Ga., Recorder.

Mr. S. J. Hargrove, who lives at Adams's station, has at his house a strange baby, which he came into possession of in a remarkably strange way. About noon, Friday, Mr. Hargrove received a telegram sent from Americus, purporting to be from his brother-in-law, which said that the sender would be in Adams's station on the 10:29 train that night. The telegram was a considerable surprise, for Mr. Hargrove knew the intentions of his relative. But acting on the telegram he met the train with his horse and buggy, prepared to take the visitor, who was returning so suddenly, to his home. The train came on time, but Mr. Hargrove's brother-in-law did not. There was on the train a man who got off, spoke a few words with Mr. Hargrove and boarded the train which was then moving off. The man was unknown to Mr. Hargrove.

When the man got off of the train he handed Mr. Hargrove a basket, which, he explained, he wanted given to Mrs. Hargrove with the compliments of a stranger who had never met her.

When Mr. Hargrove looked down he saw a healthy baby boy of about three weeks of age. The baby was remarkably well dressed, and in From The Americus, Ga., Recorder.

Then the note went on to explain that the child's mother had been a schoolmate of Mrs. Harmother had been a schoolmate of Mrs. Har-grove, and that it was her dying request that she have the baby to raise. In closing, the note said that $100 would be found in the basket to pay for the trouble to which the good people might be put, and that they would be richly rewarded when the child was raised up.

CHEAP BULL-DOG PISTOLS And the Havoc They Are Playing in Jasper County.
SHADY DALE, Ga., August 25.—[Special.]—

The $2.50 bull-dog pistol is talking among the young negroes of Jasper county. Charles Davis sent a ball into the body of Westley Spearman last night. The ball passed through his left arm, entering the side above the hip. The ball has not been found.

A few days past, at the negro church,
Charles Wilson shot George Jacobs. Will Hearn was shot by a negro, name not known.

The last two are recovering. Nearly all the young negroes in the country are the unfortunate possessors of cheap pistols. These pistols are obtained through the various advertisements floating around in all cheap ements floating around

Several companies are advertising "selfcocking or double-action revolvers, mailed free, for $2.50."

Could not the state collect the $50 tax that home dealers must pay to handle these weapons? It is clearly a retail business, and seems that it could not be protected by the interstate commerce laws. It is a very grave reality we have to deal with—all these young negroes becoming armed and ready to do murder upon the slightest

HE FELL ON THE SAW. I. J. Gatlin Meets a Horrible Death Yes terday.

MONTEZUMA, Ga., August 25 .- [Special.]-L. J. Gatlin, a highly respected and gentle-manly farmer, who only last week assumed the general superintendency of Cook's steam ginnery here, was killed today by falling upon physicians attended him with scores of life-long friends, but the injuries were beyond the skill of man. No death scene could have been sadder. The lamentations of a devoted wife and daughter brought forth expressions of deepest sorrow. He died in Dr. Oliver's down-town office at 4 o'clock p. m.

THE OFFICIAL FIGURES

Given by Supervisor Bowers, But They Will Not Be Accepted by the People.

AUGUSTA, Ga., August 25.—[Special.]—Supervisor Bowers furnishes Augusta's official census at 33,162, an increase of 51 per cent over 1880. Since the enumerators made their over 1890. Since the enumerators made their count, the police made a census of the city, which footed up over 37,000. Superintendent Bowers's figures, of course, go with the department, but they will never be accepted as correct by the people of Augusta. These figures are for the city proper and include no suburbs.

Notes From Greene.

Greensbrough, Ga., August 25.—[Special.]
Meetings for the worship of the Lord have been carried on nearly two weeks in the Baptist church in Greensborough, from 9 to 10 o'clock each morning, in which the citizens became so interested that business houses have been closed during hours of services, showing an advance in civilization not attained in some cities, and many additions to the church membership have been made, and much sympathy and harmony among the people revived and promoted.

Miss Emmie Hixon, an excellent and accomplished young lady from near Union Point, is the guest for a few weeks of Captain Mitchell's family, in Greensborough.

Starting the Wigwam.

FLOVILLA, Ga., August 25.—[Special.]—The first car of lumber for the Wigwam hotel at Indian Springs was received here today. Messrs. G., and W. Collier have gone to work in earnest and expect to push the hotel to completion as fast as possible. When finished it will accommodate 300 guests, and will cost $40,000. Love in McIntosh.

DARIEN, Ga., August 25.—[Special.]—Charlie Reeves, the murderer of Theodore Gromwald, a merchant of Darien, is now in the steel cell of the new jail of McIntosh county. He was brought to Darien by Sheriff Paulk, of Irwin county, today. Died at Powder Springs.

POWDER SPRINGS, Ga., August 25.—[Special.]—Died very suddenly of heart disease, at this place last night, at 2:30 o'clock, Mrs. Julis Florence, widow of William Florence. One by one the old landmarks are removed. Brook's County's Courthouse QUITMAN, Ga., August 24.—[Special.]—The county commissioners have closed the contract with S. A. Remington to repair the court-house. The repairs will cost $12,000, and when completed this will be one of the finest structures in south Georgia. Gainesville's First Bale Gainesville's First Bale.

GAINESVILLE, Ga., August 25.—[Special.]—
The first bale of new cotton was brought in today by Mr. W. A. Oliver, of Jackson county. It weighed 474 pounds, was classed middling and was bought by Mr. P. M. Parker at 124 cents per pound.

FAT MEN AND INTELLECT.

It Is a Mistake to Think That Corpulency and Genius Are Antagonistic. From a New York Letter.

From a New York Letter.

To certain slender people the association of intellect with fat will be received with discredit, perhaps ridicule. They have visited the dime museums of the country and have seen the obese ladies and the fat men there displaying their superabundant collection of adipose tissue, and have gone away with the idea that fat people, merely because they are fat, are more stupid and more deficient in intelligence than people of average avoirdupois. And they have extended their opinion on this subject, formed in this way, outside of the time museums and applied it to fat people generally.

pois. And they have extended their opinion on this subject, formed in this way, outside of the dime museums and applied it to fat people generally.

Probably, therefore, it will be surprising to those entertaining this idea to learn that some of the finest intellects the world has ever known have been encased in fleshly caskets, plump even to obesity. Napoleon, notwithstanding his active career, was decidedly plump. Dr. Johnson was stout even to flabbiness. So was his biographical shadow, Boswell. Balzac, the great French novelist, was so large that it was a pretty bit of exercise to walk around him. Rossini, the composer, was a regular jumbo, since for six years be never saw his knees. Jules Janin, the prince of critics, broke every sofa he ever sat upon; his cheeks and chin protruded beyond his beard and whiskers. Lablanche, the Italian singer, was charged three fares when he traveled. Dumas pere was stout, and Saint Beuve was provided with the stomach of a Falstaff. Eugene Sue had such aversion to his growing that he drank vinegar to keep it down, and yet he wrote "The Wandering Jew."

With these illustrious examples before them the fat men of the land may reassure their minds and reply to the jibes of their friend while proceeding contentedly to lay on suc cessive layers of adipose.

But it is not necessary to look to history to furnish notable examples of illustrious fat men. Here in our own day are plenty occupying conspicuous positions and assisting in the formation of new states and the making of new laws. In the national congress of the United States there are some thirty or forty men whose combined weights would amount to four or five tons, or an average of 250 pounds per man. And they are all jolly and good natured, too, besides being all men of intellect, which could seldom be said of an equal gross weight of lean men. Truly, fat has its victories as well as lean.

Imagination From The Bangor News. "One of the brightest things I ever heard a "One of the brightest things I ever heard a drunken man say," remarked a Banger gentleman this morning, "occurred on the train as I was coming down from Portland. The fellow was in that peculiarly talkative state when he felt that he must converse with everybody and continuously. All kept clear of him as long as possible, but finally the train got so well filled that a gentleman was forced to take the seat which had remained vacant in front of the intoxicated man. At once the fellow began:

"'Shay, mister, did you ev' go fishing?'
"'Yes, of course I have,' came the gruff response.

"Shay, I bet I've caught more fish'n you ever did, pursued the man.

"I'll bet $5 I've caught a bigger fish'n you ever did,' persisted the loquacious Bacchanal. "Well, I don't care to talk, if you have,' said the victim, as he shifted his seat to show the drunken man that the conversation was ended. But the inebriated didn't see it in that light that light.

"'Shay,' he persisted, leaning over the back of his seat and placing one hand on the shoulder of his unwilling companion, 'Shay, how big a fish did you ev' catch?'

"'Why,' replied the man, in a frantic attempt to silence his persecutor, 'I caught the mammoth cod on the steamer Empire State last summer, forty-three pounds.'

"'Huh,' capie the response, in a disgusted tone, as the drunken man leaned back in his seat, as if pitying the weak efforts of his companion, 'I've used larger bait than that.'

A Toad's Life in the Stomach of a Woman About three months ago Dr. Voight, of Columbus, O., was called to attend Mrs. Annie Mickles, who lives at No. 755 South Pearl street. The woman appeared to be suffering from stomach and bowel trouble, and Dr. Voight treated her with medicines and by means of injection. Shortly after treatment means of injection. Shortly after treatment was commenced Mrs. Mickles began to throw off vegetable matter resembling strips of flesh and skin, and under the doctor's treatment was slowly recovering. His patient sorely-puzzled Dr. Voight, who determined yester-day to make a thorough examination of the case, which brought to light an astounding state of affairs. The patient was plead in a

Dr. Voight is of the opinion that the animal was taken into the stemach in embryo and developed while lying there.

IN BED WITH ELECTRICITY. The Idaho Way of Keeping Warm on Cold

Nights. From The New York Times. "We can give a point to New York people about getting their money's worth out of the little movable electric-bulb lights," said little movable electric-bulb lights," said a visiting Idahoan the other day. good as a roam fire in a room. Rubber bags, tin bollers and other devices for holding hot water get cold.

"With the thermometer forty degrees below zero, as we often have it in Idaho for long stretches at a time, these old-fashioned arrangements would freeze before morning. But the electric bulbs keep one sing and warm all the time. When I begin to get ready for bed I put the light between the sheets. By shifting it about every little while it takes the chill from the bed by the time I am undressed. As I slide in I push the light down with my feet, and usually fall asleep with it there.

"It is proof against any blast of cold in the night. I never knew its warmth to fail. It doesn't cost me any more to burn it all night than if I turned it off at bed time, and if I burned a cord of wood every month in my bedroom and could keep the fire blazing all night I could not be made as comfortable as by this little bulb."

MORE FISH THAN MAN.

CAPTAIN BLONDELL, AMERICA'

He Talks Interestingly About His Wonder ful Water Feats-Swimming Thirty Miles on a Dead Stretch.

Captain L. D. Blondell, America's champion long-distance swimmer, is at the Kimball.
He attracted considerable attention in the corridors yesterday, and many were the admiring glances cast at him by the local athletes and amateur swimmers that have lately been disturbing the clear waters at Angier's lake put at Ponce de Leon with their muscle.

Blondell is every inch a regular giant fish. From a glance one could tell he was a pro fessional athlete.

His stout, robust figure, large, muscular neck, finely colored complexion and slightly upturned black mustache mark him most strikingly as an out and out sporting man. So he is.

A representative of THE CONSTITUTION called on Captain Blondell in his room, last night, at the Kimball, for a talk about some of his renowned feats in the water.

Sitting lazily in an easy chair, smoking a cigar, and robbed in a tight-fitting swimmer's shirt, with sailor trousers of deep blue, he idly blew light curls and ringlets of smoke to the ceiling and seemed to dream with longing eyes ceiling and seemed to dream with longing eyes that they were forming there a clear blue sea of petty waves, upon which he might leap for a refreshing thirty-mile swim.

The room was decorated with large photographs of the world's champion swimmers, with medals and souvenirs of every kind—all in all a perfect picture of a sporting man's dream of dear life.

"Yes, I am Blondell," he said, rising to offer the reporter a chair with such politeness and

"Yes, I am Blondell," he said, rising to offer the reporter a chair with such politeness and cordiality as seemed almost a dare, coming, as it did, from the big sturdy fellow, "and I have tome to Atlanta for the first time in my life. "While I am here I have decided to give one of my exhibitions of fancy, or what I call parlor swimming. I wouldn't have been here though, but for the fact that I had to break a big engagement in New Orleans for this week, having been detained in Birmingham too long too fill it."

too fill it."
"Well, tell me something of yourself; when and where did you win the championship of America?" asked the reporter.
"It was on August 16, 1881. I had announced in every sporting paper in the land that I would make an attempt to beat all previous records for long-distance swimming. I also dared all long-distance swimmers to follow me for love or money."

"Did any of them take you up?"

"Oh you there were seven or gight of those

"Did any of them take you up?"

"Oh, yes, there were seven or eight of those eastern fellows to jump into the water with me. It was on Chesapeake bay from Lazer-retto light, to Keller's pavilion at Fort McHenry, Baltimore, a distance of sixteen and a balt witer.

Henry, Baltimore, a distance of sixteen and a half miles.

"I landed in front of the pavillion in 8 hours and 34 minutes, in the sight of 15,000 people. Ah! I tell you that was a trip.

running with sharks, and I had come out without scars."

"What are your biggest swims?"

"Well, my life is made up of swims. In 1876

I swam from Ferry Bar to Point Breeze, about ten miles, and nearly got killed by having a squall to strike me off Fort McHenry.

"Next I swam from Washington, D. C., to Alexandria, Va., a distance of seven miles;
then came my swim from Evansyille at low tide, to Diamond island, a distance of fully whirty miles."

What swimmers have you met in the "Hosts of them. Mr. Cosgrove, of New York; Smith, of Norfolk, Va.; Pat Kellar, of Baltimore; Mons. Leo, of Boston, and many

"Denn's Butler is the only man that ever beat me in my life, and that was due to a dose of paris green that some of the gamblers gave of paris green that some of the gamoiers gave me in the water.

"My last race was with Captain Mathew Webb, the great swimmer, from London, who came to America, poor-fellow, to lose his life in the thundering abyss of Niagara Falls."

"Why are you called captain?"

The betting was six to five on Tenny, three to five on time. Harrows, rollers and sweepers were put on the track immediately after the fourth race, and for a distance of fifteen feet from the pole it was as smooth as a ribbon. Tenny came on the track from the plack stretch and galloped past the grand stand up to the quarter pole. He broke there and cantered down to the furlong, then broke into a gallop and started on his journey against time. He ran like a scared deer to the quarter and kept his gait to the half, where he was joined by Punstey, jr. This made Tenny balk, and going around the upper turn he was hardly galloping. On entering the stretch he recovered his pace, and with Hamilton using the whip and spur, dashed past the post in 1.4034, or just one second behind Ten Broeck's time.

THE SCAR OF A SHOT. The Marshal and the Gambler Raised Revolvers Together. From The New York Tribune.

From The New York Tribune.

"Do you see that tail man standing there?" asked the colonel. "Notice how he brushes his hair forward on the sides, as some Englishmen do. One of those locks hides a scar which bears eloquent testimony as to a narrow escape from death.

"Thirty years ago he was deputy marshal in Nevada. He started out one day to arrest a notorious gambler who had killed a man over a game of cards. The gambler knew that the marshal was seeking him, but with a cool effrontery walked about the streets all day. John—that is the deputy marshal—heard that "the man he wanted was in a well-known barroom. He set out for the place and carelessly walked boldly into the room. He had not crossed the threshold before he found himself looking into the barrel of a six-shooter.

"Comp. Hardy," he said ecolly. "this wan"."

threshold before he found himself looking into the barrel of a six-shooter.

"'Come, Hardy,' he said coolly, 'this won't do. I've come to get yon, and I want you."

"See here, John,' said the gambler, 'I don't want to kill you, but I won't let any man arrest me. Go away and let me alone."

"No, I want you,' said the marshal quietly. 'Put down the six-shooter and come with me.'

"I'll see you shot first,' said Hardy.

"I' can't help that,' said the other. I must have you. Now you have the drop on me, but you must come with me or kill me in cold blood."

"I'd don't want to kill you,' said Hardy."

'I don't want to kill you,' said Hardy. "Then put down your gun."
"John, I won't be arrested. Don't touch me. I don't want to shoot a man without

me. I don't want to shoot a man without cause.'

"I've got to do it, Hardy.'

"See here,' said the gambler, turning white, 'if you move a foot I kill you. But I hate to be a coward. That was fair and square last night. We both pulled together.'

"The marshal shook his head.

"I'll back up to that wall. You back up to the other. I'll draw my revolver to my hip and you can draw yours. Then it's the best man.'

"The marshal moved backward to the wall and Hardy did the same. Then the marshal drew his revolver and held it at his side, muzzle down. All this time Hardy had kept his weapon leveled at the marshal. Slowly his arm sank, until his revolver touched the seam of his trousers. Both men were perfectly calm and immovable, the marshal determined-looking, the gambler still pale.

the marshal determined-looking, the gambler still pale.

"Now, John,' said Hardy. Instantly both weapons went up. It was all over so quickly that both men went on the floor together. But Hardy had fired too soon; his ball went at an upward angle and grazed the marshal's temple. But the marshal had sent his bullet stright on a line to Hardy's heart, and there was no need to arrest the gambler.

THE ARISTOCRACY OF THE DOLLAR An Interesting Talk By Colonel T. W. Higginson, at Chautauqua.
Chautauqua New York Letter.
Colonel Thomas Wentworth Higginson charmed

display of wealth, and pointed out the dangers to be apprehended from its easy acquisition, but reached the optimistic conclusion that America, which won the respect of the world in the civil war, will never forfelt it in times of peace. The aristocracy of birth, he said, is dying out. Three-quarters of the English peerages date back no further than to the American Revolution. The power of the house of lords is gone. The only question on which it dares to assert its rights is that of the marriage of a deceased wife's sister. The American system represents things that bring people together—railroads, steamboats, factories, the works of peace and not of hostility. It represents good deeds, belos the world, while the represents good deeds, helps the world; while the aristocracy of birth threatens to destroy by violence. It does not impose abject deference, for wealth cannot forget its origin. In Boston a man recently got so rich that he couldn't afford to pay his tax bill. So he went to his native village, paid all his running expenses, and saved $30,000 by the operation every year. The town is now the best lighted and has the best roads in Massachusetts, but, supposing that goes on, and every town be-comes virtually the property of one rich man, how much would be practically left of the Declaration of Independence? The worst danger of the aristocracy of the dollar is not in its immediate power but in the fact that after a little time has passed it confounds all social distinctions. Pope Urban was a cobbler in his early youth, and took a cobbler's tools for his coat of arms, but I lived in Newport for twelve years and never saw on a sin-gle carriage a recognition of the fact that its owner didn't inherit his wealth from seven generations of crowned heads. Still I believe that the ations of crowned heads. Still I believe that the aristocracy of the dollar prepares the way for something better, that the aristocracy of the millionaire will give way to the aristocracy of the million. After all, there is a vast principle of compensation throughout nature. It isn't the quantity of things, but the quality of enjoyment, that makes the difference between man and man, and, as education spreads, people learn to value money less.

Henry George Too Much for Her.

From The Philadelphia Record.

It is related of Queen Victoria that a high eclesiastical dignitary recommended her to read Henry George's "Progress and Poverty." She complied to the extent of the first two chapters, when she gave up, "worsted, not so much by the subversive opinions of the new gospel as by its exceeding ponderousness." Her subjects, how-ever, have found the book very interesting. Mr. George's writings have made a considerable im-pression in England.

Some Penalties of Popularity.

FROM OUR NOTEBOOK.

Young People's League—The Young People's Christian League, of Trinity church, will meet tonight at 8 o'clock promptly. Every young persor is invited to attend. A most interesting and delightful programme has been arranged.

She Has Returned.—Mrs. Soundstrom has arrived in the city, and yesterday evening paid a visit to the undertaking establishment to look upon the face of her dead husband. When the casket was opened it was found that the body was in a perfectly natural state, the only change being a slight emaciation of the features and a whitening of the complexion. The casket was closed and the body will remain there for three or four weeks, until the affairs of the estate are settled, when it will be taken home to Sweden. The dead man has been embalmed for over a month, he having died on July 22d, and will probably not be buried in sixty days.

Off for the Northwest.—Mr. W. L. Stanton left for the northwest yesterday in the interest of his New Orleans business. He will visit St. Louis, Kansas City, and Omaha, and will go as farnorth as Minneapolis and St. Paul, and return about the 1st of October via Chicago and Cincinnait, thence to New Orleans where he will spend the winter. Mr. Stanton is one of Georgia's most substantial and energetic business men, and his many friends in Atlanta wish him a pleasant and prosperous trip through the west. While his present business headquarters is in New Orleans, and his family in Ladrange, he still claims and considers West End his summer home where he owns considerable and valuable real estate.

A Burst Hydrant.—A hydrant at the corner of Whitehall and Windsor streets burst last night and created somewhat of a sensation for awhile by overflowing the streets.

A Fire .- A bright blaze in the direction of the East Tennessee shops attracted attention last night about 9 o'clock. The fire was somewhere in the country, but what was burning is not known.

Exposition Meetings.—The executive committee of the exposition company will meet in the office of the company this afternoon at 4 o'clock on important business. The directors will hold their regular meeting in the office tonight at 8 o'clock. The interest in these meetings increases

Phillips's Legion.—"It was a great reunion we had of it," said General Phillips, yesterday, "and I was happy to see the boys there in Marietta once more. They came from every part of north Georgia, and the people of Marietta treated them right royally, to be sure. Brave and noble men are they, and it is truly an inspiration to mingle with them these late days."

FAY'S DIAMONDS.

WHY THE FAMOUS BURLESQUE

Her Devoted Friend and His Magnifice Gift Which the Government Now Is Holding.

Just at the time frolicsome Fay Templeton was kicking her heels the highest in the opening per-formance off 'Hendrik Hudson'' at the Fourteenthformance of 'Hendrik Hudson' at the Fourteenth-street theater (tonight she was ready to cry. When her eyes were beaming their brightest, when her mood seemed to be merriest, her bosom was weighted with a sorrow that will not soon be re-moved. Twenty thousand dollars' worth of dia-monds bought by Miss Templeton's ardent ad-mirer, Howell Osborne, which should have blazed at her white throat, in her hair, about her person, and upon her dainty fingers, were at that very time in the clutches of Uncle Sam's custom-house inspectors. Everyone who loves diamonds can ap-preciate the distress occasioned by such a mishap. If Fay wept, and it is said she did, everyone will say she had good reason.

The story of Fay's lost diamonds was begun in Paris. Howell Osborne, that rich, young gentle-manly "high roller," whose yearly income is over $50,000, is at present enjoying himself in that city, and is staying at No. 101 Boulevard Pereire. Everybody knows that Miss Templetons and Mr. Osborne have been very close friends since 1886. It has been more than once rumored that Mr. Os-borne and Miss Templeton were to be married, but for some reason the marriage has never been per-

THEY QUARRELED IN PARIS. Fay was in Paris up to two months ago. It is said that she and Osborno indulged in one of their periodical quarrels, and Miss Templeton, without bidding a very affectionate farewell to Mr. Os-bidding a very affectionate farewell to Mr. Os-borne, packed her trunks, boarded a steamer and came to America, arranging meanwhile to produce her new comic opera.

Mr. Osborne didn't enjoy himself during Miss Templeton's absence. Wishing to bridge the aw-ful chasm that her displeasure had caused, he purchased $20,000 worth of diamonds, and put them up in eight packages, which he ordered his valet to deliver to Fay. Valet Herischy was fur-nished with plenty of money, and a ticket for a berth on the steamer La Normandie, which left Havre six days ago. The custom-house officers Havre six days ago. The custom-house officers boarded the steamer at quarantine. Mr. Herischy when questioned by the officer as to whether he had any dutiable goods about him, took an oath

The steamship arrived at her dock this morning.
The valet presented his ticket of entry to the surveyor's staff officer on the dock, and that gentleman sent an inspector to search his baggage. Nothing was found in the valise that Herischy carried, and he was allowed to go.

THE DIAMONDS SEIZDE.

He had got through the line of custom-house inspectors, and was going up the pier when two other inspectors happened to look after him. They noticed something heavy and bulky flopping in the coat talls of Herischy's coat. They called him back and inquired what he had stowed away in his pocket. Herischy produced a package and exhibited some nerveness. THE DIAMONDS SEIZDE.

hibited some nervou The inspectors took him back aboard the steam-ship and removed the covering of the package. It was found to contain a solid (gold vinaigerette about three inches high and two inches in diam eter. On the top of it were Fay Templeton's ini-tials set in twenty diamonds. In Herischy's other pockets they found the other packages of jewels. Only four of the packages were opened. These opened contained the following articles: A gold watch about the size of a nickel set with sixteen diamonds, a crown-shaped breast pin set with fifty diamonds, and having a large pearl in each of the spikes of the crown, a brooch in the shape of a blown rose, containing thirty-five diamonds, a pair of solitaire diamond sleeve buttons, a chateaine with a great number of diamonds, a beautiful point lace fan, with mother-of-pearl sides set with seven large diamonds, two rubles and a sap-phire, and a moonstone brooch set with twenty

A small throat pin completed the list of articles A small throat pin completed the list of arricles opened, and it deserved special mention on account of it being symbolical of Fay's feelings. It has been christened, and so it will be known among the "Johnnies," as the "Sour Grapes pin." It consisted of a stem, on which were four green grapes. No one was able to say of what material the carries were made. grapes were made, but they looked very sour, inleed. The stem was set with diamond

THE VALET IN JAIL. Herischy was taken to the room of Assistant District Attorney O'Connell, who drew up a complaint charging him with smuggling. He was then taken before Commissioner Shields, who committed him to Ludlow-street jali, in default of $5,000 bail, for examination at 10 o'clock today. The prisoner bust into tears, and declared in the most positive manner that he did not know what the packages contained when they were given to him by Osborne.

Hirischy speaks English imperfectly. "I took missioners kindly sent a messenger to apprise Miss Templeton of what had happened, but she did not ome to the rescue of Herischy, and he was taken to Ludlow-street jail. Assistant District Attorney O'Connell opened the letter that was found on Herischy. It was addressed: "Miss Fay Templeton." He read it and a broad smile illumined his countenance. The inspectors and commissioners also read the little epistle, and they began to laugh The inspectors would not let reporters take a copy of the letter.

They want to first use it as evidence in the case.

It opened with "Dear Fay," and is said to be very spicy. This is one of the sentences, "When I get over there, Fay, all the Johnnies must go."

Herischey is about forty years old. He was well dressed in a light suit. He has a smooth-shaven face, and says he has a wife and four children in Paris. The letter asked Fay to give Herischy em ployment until Howell comes over, which will be in a few weeks.

Richard Mansfield.

Mr. Mansfield's great success in "Beau Brummell." has given him a degree of leisure that he has long been anxious for to devote to other work besides things theatrical. During his occasional hours of rest Mr. Mansfield has found relaxation in composing songs. They vary in spirit and tone, just as the mood seized him. The number now is sufficient to fill a small volume. He is having them set to music, and illustrated in the highest style of refined art by a well-known artist. The work will place Mr. Mansfield in a new and agreework will place at a half-lead to a low and a sell-able light before the public, and from his well-known artistic ability and tastes it is certain that the book will be a token of the gifted young actor worth possessing.

SETTLING THE STATE DEBT. Securities Must Be Deposited Before the 15th of September.

RICHMOND Va., August 25 .- [Special.]-Yesterday Mr. John C. Williams, a broker of this city, deposited with the Planters' National bank $11,000 in tax receivable bonds and $3,000 in tax receivable coupons, to be held under the plan for settling the state debt, set forth by the Alcott committee. Obligations of the state, amounting to nearly $14,000,000, have already been deposited under the agreement of May 12th. This is a majority of all the securities. Persons, to avail themselves of the benefits to be derived from the agreement, are required to deposit the securities before Sepember 15th, as after that time they will be re ceived only upon such terms as the committee shall decide.

Peachtree Street Property Claimed by Family of Chattanooga Negroes.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., August 25 .- [Special. An attorney of this city says he has a good case that involves the ownership of about $150,000 worth of property on Peachtree street Atlanta. The story is that after the war, one William Gifford, a free negro, bought a tract of land at Atlanta, which is now on Peachtree street. That he came to Chattanooga, where he died. His family lately hunted up the title to the property and secured the old deed. The attorney expects to go to Atlanta this week to institute legal proceedings for the Marie Bashkirtseff's Mother. European Letter to The Sun.

The Sun correspondent visited Mme. Bashkirtseff at Marie's studio in the Rue Prorny. Here, in a room about twenty by thirty feet, are the paintings of the dead girl exactly as she left them before she took to the bed from which she never arose again. Most of the time during the years ince Marie's death her mother has spent mourn ing alone among the pictures and statuary, and nothing more pathetic can be imagined than the black-draped figure of the old lady moving sadly about the room she holds sacred to the memory of the daughter whom she loved. The four walls of the apartment are covered with Marie Bashkirt seff's work in all stages of completion, everything indicating the highest talent, if not absolute genius. The portraits of Marie that she had painted hrus. The portraits of marie that she had painted herself were draped in white crepe, as were the numerous photographs, in an inner room, and on a reading table was a copy of Aristotle open at the page where she had last read the book before her death. Here is a chance for some benevolent and vealthy American to make a worthy contribution to art. Mme. Bashkirtseff, who has steadily refused to part with the least of her daughter's works, is anxious that the collection should al-ways be kept together, She feels that her own days are numbered, and her son, Marie's brother, who still lives in Russia, takes little interest in his sister's work, so that Mme. Bashkirtseff fears that after her death the collection may be scattered. On that account she is anxious to dispose of the gallery to some one who will promise to keep it intact.

Farming in Georgia. Fifteen years ago there was a general impression among the farmers of Georgia that the farming lands in this state were work out and exhausted, and there was a very serious movement among them in the direc tion of Mississippi and Texas. This movement westward had been going on for many years, as the result of superficial cultivation. The large land owners were able to get fresh ground by clearing off timber, but the small farmers, after exhausting their lands, thought they were compelled to emigrate.

In the midst of this migratory movement, however, which at one time was very serious, it was to be observed that in various portions of the state there were farmers who were not only farming on so-called exhausted land, but making money steadily. About ten years ago THE CONSTITUTION sought out these successful farmers and induced them to give their views and plans through its

The publication of these views, which went forward from week to week, was a notable event, and it had a most wholesome effect on the farming interests of Georgia. From the time that the successful farmers gave in their experience through THE CONSTITUTION the result of the symposium has been noticeable. There is no longer a tendency on the part of the less successful ones to emigrate to Mississippi and Texas, and there has been a wonderful improvement in the condition of the farmers themselves. The secret of success as given by the farmers who spoke in THE CONSTITUTION is an open one. They gave to their operations the same attention that would be demanded by any other business or profession, and they were guided by the strictest rules of economy. Intensive farming was their motto; the raising of the largest crops on the smallest area; the raising of home supplies; a system that gave them practical independence

We are reminded of these things by an article in a recent number of The Forum on "The Possibilities of Agriculture," in which some of the results of intensive farming are given. In France thirty years ago twentytwo bushels of wheat to the acre was con sidered a fair crop. On the same land today the average is thirty-three bushels, and in some districts the crop is considered good only when it yields from fortythree to forty-eight bushels to the acre, and occasionally fifty-five and a half bushels to the acre. There are farms in northern France that yield year after year from sixtyfive to sixty-eight bushels to the acre.

For fourteen consecutive years there have been raised on the same lot of land in France forty tons of fodder for ensilage to the acre. At Whitley, in England, from seventy-seven to 110 tons of oats have been grown on an acre. The market gardeners near Paris are able to pay $126 rent to the acre and still make a good living. The island of Jersey nourishes two inhabitants to each acre, and the early potato crop returns more than $300 to each acre planted. It is estimated that an agricultural produce to the amount of $250 an acre of the entire surface of the sland, including the rocks, is obtained. It should be borne in mind that these wonderful results are obtained on land that has been in cultivation for centuries, and that in natural fertility it is not to be compared with the poorest spot in Georgia. With one-fourth of the labor and expense that has been bestowed on the farm lands of France and the island of Jersey, the soil of Georgia could be made to produce more profitable returns. There are farmers now in this state who are demonstrating this fact every yearfarmers, who, by strict business methods and careful cultivation, are growing rich.

A Chance for Granny Hoar. The Boston Globe credits Granny Hoan with calling the attention of the senator to a table showing the preponderance of colored people over white people in Georgia. He "clinched it," says The Globe, "with the same old stale and silly assumption that because the colored citizens of Georgia do not all vote, and do not all vote the republican ticket, there is justification for a force bill which gives partisan federal officials the power to count for the republican candidates all these colored votes that were never cast."

We may remark on this that if Granny Hoar called the attention of the senate to table showing the preponderance of colored people over white people in Georgia, he either concocted it himself or had it concocted by some of the Ohio forgers who tried to help J. B. Foraker.

The fact of the business is that the white roters of Georgia have a large majority over the blacks, and there has never been any question of bulldozing or intimidating in this state. There is no republican party in Georgia, except for the purpose of electing delegates to the republican national convention, and the negroes have no party candidates to vote for even if they took any in terest in voting.

Granny Hoar ought to take the stump in Georgia and reorganize his party. It would be better than a 10-cent circus.

South Georgia's Prosperity.

Not alone the inhabitants of that favored region themselves, but the people of the state at large, have cause for gratification over the rapid development of the great "Wiregrass" region of southeastern Georgia

Only a few years ago that section of the state was a sort of terra incognita to the outside world, and its wondrous resources were undreamed of in the philosophy of the political economists. The great mass of the people were very poor and very illiterate. Even the wealthiest of the farmers and stockholders conformed to the universal manners and customs of the country, and denied themselves the luxuries of a higher haunts in the barrens for more than a day at a time, and then only to visit the market ties of their frugal lives. Education was neglected, and the teachers who presumed to conduct the quarter free schools deserved to be in school themselves, teaching without books or equipments, the possession of which would have confused them, as they had not the tutors' training necessary to explain their contents to the pupils.

But a change has come over the "Wiregrass," a wondrous change indeed. The introduction of methods of diversified farming, fruit and vegetable gardening, coupled with the coming of new lines of railroad, providing means of easy transportation, brought about a new order of things.

Just one road as an illustration, the Georgia Southern. Its glistening rails, like twin sunbeams, pierce the gloom of this whilom wilderness, and from Cordele to Valdosta it is made to blossom like the rose.

New towns are springing up, and through the long, dim vistas of these mighty colon nades of pines one catches the glimpse of handsome home-buildings that have usurped the reign of the log cabin, and of ornamental church buildings, capacious and wellequipped schoolhouses, springing up al along the line.

The happy combination of circumstances that taught these people new methods of farming, and at the same time provided the means of marketing their products, has transformed the country from a desolate barren to a thriving and prosperous country, full of light and life and happy homes. And with a soil whose generous fertility yields such bountiful results to the labor of the husbandman; lakes and rivers that diversify and fructify the land; a climate with the elemency of the temperate zone and the prodigal warmth and abundance of the tropics; peopled by a race of men who are thrifty, intelligent and enterprising, and of women whose beauty and accomplishments are becoming known to the world. only to be admired and loved,-it takes no prophet to foretell the future of this beautiful section of the great empire state of the Mistaken Senator Ingalis.

The report comes from Kansas that Sena tor Ingalls looks forward to his threatened defeat by the Farmers' Alliance without anxiety. It is the senator's belief that his literary talents are of the highest order, and be is convinced that he has the ability to make a fortune with his pen. He is paid eight cents a word for newspaper articles, and The North American Review pays him more. He is under the impression that regular literary work would net him $30,000 a year. If the Kansas statesman has been correctly reported in this matter, it is plain that his self-conceit has got the better of his judgment. It is very easy for Senator Ingalls, whose unique personality has attracted attention, to sell an article for a good price. His haughty contempt for the people, his sneering insolence, his blatant infidelity, and his malignant sectionalism have made him a conspicuous figure in politics, but how will it be when he loses his high office? In private life people will see in him simply a snarling, cynical hater of his kind, and they will not care enough for him or his opinions to read them. Just now this man's capacity for working evil is to be dreaded on account of his position. But take him out of the senate, and place him where he is powerless to injure the country or those who differ with him, and nobody will care what he thinks or writes. Reduced to the dead level of private life, there is not enough originality or strength in him to enable him to loom up above the heads of his fellow-men.

Another thing should not be forgotten by the senator. One of his recent speeches was exposed all over the country as a plagiarism from a French writer. It is true that this does not impair the market value of his penwork while he continues to be prominent in political life, but when he becomes plain J. J. Ingalls again this plagiarism business will not be lost sight of. It will be remembered against him by every publisher, and his contributions will find their way to the waste

The statesman from Kansas will find when it is too late that he has made several seriou mistakes. He has scorned the common peo ple, and ignored the agricultural interest. which is the foundation of all other interests. He has proclaimed himself the enemy of religion, and has opposed the reconcilia tion of the sections. He has stolen the idea and language of dead men in order to make a reputation as a thinker and a rhetorician. Now, when a man occupies a high position he may do all these things, and still make money out of his lectures and writings. His notoriety makes him a drawing card. Out of office it will be entirely different. Senator Ingalls may make money with his penbut when the farmers send him back to his original obscurity he will find that his dream of making $30,000 a year out of literature was only a dream.

Where Poverty Is No Crime,

In this country a deserving, poor man out of work is liable to be arrested for vagrancy. If he begs it is a crime. If he is fortunate he is sent to a poorhouse.

In Germany they manage things differently. Under the system adopted in that country each community has to extend help to the respectable poor. The public money is loaned to needy persons, and they are re quired under penalties to pay it back if they ever find themselves able.

It 'is not claimed that this system reduced pauperism in a great measure. The point n its favor is that it is humane, and that it saves many worthy families from being driven into hopeless poverty and crime. In a word, it gives the unfortunate a chance. Some recent figures presented by one of our consuls show that the number of persons to whom loans are made in this manner is about four out of each 100. Of course this costs money-some $21,500,000 a year, or a tax of 46 cents per inhabitant.

Let not these figures alarm the economist. The money thus paid out to the poor saves Germany large items in the shape of house, court and prison expenses. It has been found that the honest and able-bodied poor when temporarily aided are stimulated to obtain work and make themselves selfsustaining again. So far as the other classes are concerned, the Germans do not waste any charity upon them. The dishonest, the idle, or those unable to work are disposed of very much after the fashion in this country. We have much to learn in this ma lealing with the great problem of poverty, and it must be admitted that Gern town to exchange the meager products of far ahead of us. Perhaps we may yet travel farm, flock and herd for the scanty necessi- the same road. Already millions of om people demand loans from the general government. This is simply an extension the German plan for the relief of the poor. If one is right, the other is right also. Both come under the head of socialism, but if we are not already half-way socialistic it would be difficult to show just how and why we are not.

Lightning Rods a Protection. Do lightning rods protect?

This old question will not down. It is no ooner settled than it becomes unsettled, and the controversy over it is renewed. The New York Sun is of the opinion that accidents by lightning are on the increase and so many buildings protected by metallic rods are struck that people continue to question the value of such conductors as safe guards. The explanation that the rod was not properly constructed or attached will not do, because in many cases every requirement seems to have been observed, and vet the bolt struck the house.

Perhaps the new theory in England se forth by Dr. Lodge will be of interest. It is that a rod protects against ordinary lightning, but not against what is called an impulsive rush. Sometimes an overhanging cloud receives an excessive charge of electricity from a distant cloud, and the time is too short to permit the electricity to be silently carried off by the rods. The result then is sometimes disastrous.

But this is a theory and needs proof. Dr. Lodge's opinion simply amounts to this: In the majority of cases a good lightning rod is a protection, but in some exceptional cases it is not. As everybody knew this before, it is easy to treat the doctor's conclusion with profound respect, and there will be a general desire to test his theory of the impulsive rush from the overhanging cloud suddenly charged with excessive electricity from a dis tant cloud. Naturally, we desire to know the cause of a disaster, even when there is no way of guarding against the evil.

The Trouble in Mississippi. It is to be hoped that the woman's suffrage plank in the platform of the Mississippi constitutional convention will accomplish the results desired. It is a new way of settling a difficulty, but it is feared that it will prove a dangerous precedent. The people of that state are now confronted with the question of white or negro rule, and, despite the cant of our contempo raries in the north and west, who are continually engaged in settling this problem for us, we are free to say that the white people of Mississippi have but one course before them; that is a pacific course, and will not be understood by those who have never had to battle with the same conditions, but it is plain to the whole south.

Two features that may make this woman suffrage movement in Mississippi obtain the desired results are the educational and property qualifications; but will the women themselves take sufficient interest in the privileges thus granted them to secure a white majority to the state? It is on record that when woman suffrage is once attained, it loses interest for even its warmest advocates, and it is finally found that only a small minority of the women of any section are willing to take their stand at the polls and cast their votes after they have once exercised that privilege; and if this should be the case in Mississippi, it might possibly work disastrous results in the

The question of woman suffrage is one with which we would deal gently and warily: we have always doubted the wisdom of it in contemplating the lengths to which it might lead and the trouble which would follow it; and while our sympathies go out to our riends in Mississippi, opinion, this woman suffrage business will establish a dangerous precedent for the south.

But they are the best judges of the situation, and doubtless know what is best for the state. Their constitutional convention has excited national comment, much of it being unfavorable. But this was expected from those who do not, and cannot, understand the situation. The sympathies of the whole south are with Mississippi in her present dilemma, and we are satisfied that whatever is done-and all things will be done decently and in order-will be done with an eye single to the welfare of the state and of all that dwell therein.

It is said that the government of Switzerland is about to abolish the myth of William Tell. This is foolish. A jolly myth is much etter than a crusty fact. BETWEEN THE disappearance of the surplus and the stringency of the money market the republican party seems to be having a high SENATOR PLATT says the wooden nutmeg is a chestmut. Ten thousand southern families wish that Platt was correct.

WHETRER GENERAL BOULANGER will be a success or a failure in his new role as a newspaper man is more than doubtful. But it goes without saying that if he visits this country with his notebook he will be lionized. A journalist with Boulanger's record is something of a novelty, and it makes little difference whether he can write or not. To a Checinnati reporter Dr. Talmage said the other day: "I have been asked the queetion, 'Is crime increasing?" The matter was discussed.

'No.' Considering the increased population of the country, and the fact that the newspaper press scrutinizes all occurrences and everything of a criminal nature is reported, I do not! think crime is increasing. I believe that there are more good people in the world now than there ever were. I think the world is 75 per cent better than it was in the last century. Yes," he added, reflectively. think the world is 75 per cent better than it was in the last century. Yes," he added, reflectively, "I may say that it is 90 per cent better—nearly 90 per cent. At the beginning of this century when a philanthropist or a good man became well known, the world made a russ about it. It does not do so now. There are so many good men, such a num-ber of generous philanthropists in the world today, that the people take it as a matter of course, and little attention is paid to their good deeds."

ALBION W. TOURGEE suggests that the new big hotel in Chicago shall be called by a non-sectional name—one that will indicate no north, no south, no cast and no west. It is plain that Tourgee is not sincere. He makes his living by catering to northern prejudices against the south, and has been at work on that line for twenty-five years. His action at this late day in opposing a sectiona name for the Chicago hotel is no doubt inspired by no better motive than a desire to draw south ern custom to a hostelry in which he is perhaps interested to the extent of free hash.

The occasion was the annual flower, fruit and vegetable show at Hawarden. The grand old man had promised to make a speech in open air in front of his castle, but the weather was so atrocious that it was generally supposed that he would not keep his engagement. Mr. Gladstone, however, is accustomed to keep his en-gagements, and he would no doubt haveldelivered the oration had the audience consisted solely of reporters. Mrs. Gladstone, as usual, was on hand, but her attemps to insinuate a Mackintosh on the grand old man's shoulders, were fruitless and the orator was wet through before he had recognized the reasonableness of her suggestion to put up his umbrella. A Georgia editor announces that he will be absent from his post for three days, "during which time," he adds, "the people will have an opportunity of seeing what a miserable affair a town is without a newspaper, and they will probably pay up on our return.

The Dublin Gazette announces that on or before the 1st of September the entire print ing of the paper will be done at home, and it will be otherwise greatly improved.

It is a pleasure to welcome to the exchange list of The Democrat such a splendid representative of the southern press as THE ATLANTA Constitution, a newspaper having an international reputation and known everywhere because of its ability, courage, worth and extensive in fluence. The northern people who wilfully mistake the character and temper of the people the south would do well to read such papers as THE CONSTITUTION. THE GOVERNORS

CALLED BY GENERAL GORDON TO MEET SEPTEMBER 10TH.

They Will Come from All the Cotton States To Consider the Matter of Direct Trad-and Several Other Things.

A convention of governors.

That's what Atlanta will have on the 10th of September. The call was issued yesterday by Governor

John B. Gordon. It goes to the governors of all the It is to be held mainly for the consider of the matter of direct trade, something in which the alliance of the south is taking an active interest now. Indeed, the prospect of a cotton states' con rention originated in the alliance, and it is at the request of the Georgia State Alliance, that Besides the subject of direct trade, there are other important matters to be considered: lating to weights, insurance, freights, and the handling of cotton. It is expected that the governor of every

STATE OF GEORGIA, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT—ATLANTA, Ga., August 25.—At a recting of the state alliance, in the city of Atlanta, the following resolutions were passed:

Resolved, I. That we respectfully request his excellency, the governor, to call a convention of the governors of the cotton states, to meet in Atlanta on the 10th day of September, proxime, to formulate a plan by which we can effect direct trade with Liverpool.

Resolved, 2. That each governor is respectfully requested to appoint six delegates from his state to accompany him, and take part in said convention.

to accompany him, and take part in said convention.

Resolved, 3. That the state alliance is hereby respectfully asked to give this its careful consideration, and appoint ten delegates—one from each congressional district—to said convention.

In compliance with the above request, the several governors of the "cotton states" are hereby respectfully invited and earnestly requested to be present in the city of Atlanta on the 10th day of September next, and, with the delegates to be by them appointed, take part in the deliberations of the convention then to assemble.

In addition to the subject of "direct trade," there are questions relating to weights, insurance, freights and handling cotton, which are of momentons interest to the cotton producer, and which said convention may profitably consider.

THE STATE OF TRADE IN GANADA.

A System of Protection Which Fails to Protect.

THE INDEBTEDNESS OF THE PEOPLE

An Attempt at Cotton Manufacture

SHERBROOKE, Can., August 25-[Special.]-There is something crooked about Canadian trade and finances.

The people are dissatisfied, and no one understands how to relieve the pressure.

Just before leaving Quebec I had a long and pleasant shot with City pleasant chat with Sir Alexander T. Galt, who, ever since 1855, has been one of the lead-ers of Canadian politics. For years he has occapied the treasury bench in the cabinet, has represented Canada in London and Washing-in England or Blaine in the United States. "Canada isfin a most prosperous condition," said he. "The people are contented and properous; they approve of the policy of Sir John A. McDonald, and a warm national sentiment is growing up, based on loyalty to her majesty, the queen."

ton upon questions of trade and reciprocity, and stands in Canada today as does Gladstone

Yet, in contradiction to this glowing picture, is the statement of the mortgage indebtedness of Nova Scotia, which produces some startling figures covering 1888 and 1889. The number and amount of incumbrances put on record in 1888 were as follows: Mortgages, 1,836, aggregating $1,664,369; bills of sale, 1,926, aggregating $683,706; judgments, 1,506, aggregating $441,909. Total incumbrances, 5,268, aggregating $2,789,984. This represents a recorded incumbrance in that province of $6.33 per head of the population. For 1889 the record was: 2,005 mortgages, $1,698,134; 1,985 bills of sale, $507,320; 1,332 judgments, $389,107. Total, 5,412 incumbrances, $2,594,561, or $5.87 per head of the population. The amount of indebtedness discharged—taking the actual record of released mortgages and doubling the recorded releases of bills of sale and judgments—is placed at $1,119,105 for 1888 and $1,444,966 for 1889. Deducting these amounts would leave the net increase of indebtedness at $1,670,879 for 1888 and $1,149,-595 for 1889, or a total for the two years of $2,820,474. This is equivalent to an increased indebtedness of $6.44 per head in the two years. This, it must be admitted, is a rather serious exhibit, showing that under the cover of what is regarded as substantial prosperity a good deal of business is transacted which indicates the reverse of that condition. It is quite probable that in this matter of in creased mortgage indebtedness the situation in Nova Scotia pretty accurately illustrates the situation in the other provinces.

The gloomy reports presented by the directors to the shareholders of the Nova Scotia Cotton Manufacturing Company, at Halifax, a short time ago, and the unfortunate condition of that industrial corporation, have drawn attention to the depressed condition of Canada's cotton industry and evoked discussion which can hardly be called a flattering tribute to the protection policy which was intended to "foster" the cotton and other industries, make the investors therein rich and furnish "constant employment and good wages" to thousands of happy operalives. Briefly stated the condition of the Halifax cotton factory is this: The mill has just closed its seventh year, six of them with out paying any dividends. The net profit for the past year was $5,000, but that had to go to reduction of the accumulated debit of $23,000 on the wrong side of the profit and loss account. The total liability amounts to $460,000, of which $333,000 are capital stock, $27,000 for debentures issued last year, and $100,000 owing to the Bank of Nova Scotia. The estimated assets are $437,000, showing a deficiency of $23,000. The building and plant have depreciated in value, there is considerable stock on hand, though it has been running on short time, and the company finds itself face to face with a crisis. Practically the concern is bankrupt, and the victimized shareholders have empowered the directors to dispose of the property in the best way they could—anything seemed better than continued years of suspense without profit. At the meeting it was stated what is true—that all the mills in Canada had been compelled to run on short time, that all of them had too large a stock of manufactured goods on hand, that only one of them—the Hochelaga mill—had declared any dividend this year, and that the St. John, N. B., mill had collapsed altogether. The president of the Halifax company assigned as the cause of this state of affairs that there were too many mills in Canada, and consequently overproduction. The home markets and in-ternal commerce do not seem to be equal to the emergency imposed on them by protection.

The government organs, or at least some of them, very angrily resent the in-sinuation that the protection policy is in anyway responsible for the troubles of the cot-ton industry. When it was proposedito foster Canadian manufacturing industries by means of a protective tariff, Hon. Alex McKenzie and those who supported him pointed out that attempting to develop such industries by artificial methods was a dangerous policy; that our market was too limited to warrant any large development which could be profitably maintained; that while the policy might be attended with success for a few years, it would in the end result disastrously, involving less to capitalists, injury to those dependent upon the protected industries, and serious derangement and disturbance of business generally. For the first two years after the adoption of protection the mills in operation paid enormous ends. This had the effect of attracting abnormal amounts of capital to the cotton industry. Moneyed men acted as if there were "millions in it." People who had small sums laid away for the proverbial rainy day were tempted to invest their hard-earned savings in cotton stock in anticipation of receiving enormous dividends compared with the 3 or 4 per cent they were getting from the banks. The inevitable result followed. Old mills were enlarged; new mills were built; hundreds of thousands of dollars were invested in brick, mortar and ma-chinery, and the protectionists cried in ecstatic tones, "Behold, how good is the work of our hands." But the home market failed, overproduction on a large sale ensued, cotton stocks depreciated in value, for the last seven years dividends have been few and far between, and the poorly paid operatives have been compelled to live from hand to mouth, never certain of steady employment, and always confronted with the specter of enforced idleness and a struggle for bread. At last, those who shouted most loudly are compelled to admit that there are too many milis in Canada; that there is heavy overproduction and consequently stagnation; that surplus stocks cannot be sold in foreign markets except at serious loss—in short, that Canada's cotton industry is in a very depressed condition, with not a ray of hope for the future.

But the cotton industry of Canada is not the only industry that is suffering from an overdose of the national policy. A good many other industries are suffering—from excessive home competition, from taxes on ther raw material, etc.—but in most cases the propriematerial, etc.—but in most cases the proprie-tors say very little about their troubles except to confidential friends; they have not the courage to admit that they have been made the victims of misplaced confidence in the protection fad, and prefer to suffer in silence. They will not, however, contribute anything more to the government election fund, and when voting time comes around they are not likely to mark their beliefs for are not likely to mark their ballots for the combine candidate. Other industries, if the protection policy is continued a few years longer, will meet the fate of the cotton industry. Exorbitant taxes on raw materials, increased cost of production, and overproduc tion will inevitably work out the same result.

Millions of locked-up, idle and unproductive capital will tell the tale of loss-ruin in some a ses-wrought by the mischievous policy of the country and bonusing a few pet capitalists at the expense of the trade and consumers of the Dominion. This attempt to build up an independent commercial Canada, which relied exclusively on the mother country, and ignored the United States, has resulted so disastrously that the swing of the political pendulum will go the other way. This means that reciprocity with the United States, which is but the forerunner of annexation, will be the popular policy. When the pocket nerve is laid toward New York and Chicago, it may be depended on that a good deal of the surplus patriotism will go the same way.

The only encouraging reports in the way of development come from the Manitoba provinces in the northwest. Sir James Grant returned to Ottawa yesterday from Vancouver island, after an extended trip through British Columbia and the northwest. Speaking about the wonderful development of British Amer ica, he says:

"Manitoba and the northwest will produce over twenty million bushels of wheat this season, and indications for a good harvest were never so promising. There is a tremendou railroad development. A road is to be built from Winnipeg to Hudson bay, and another from Portage La Prairie to Saltcot, where the Crofters are. It is all a fine agricultural country. The Northern Pacific is building a branch from Winnipeg to Brandon, also a hotel at Winnipeg that will cost $1,500,-000. Besides these there is a new road from Regina to Long Lake and Prince Albert, and one from Calgary to Edmonton, in the very heart of the fine wheat country. The Northern Pacific has also built and is operating fifty miles of a new road from Brandon westward, and has one hundred miles under contract It will extend to the Peace river country. Another road goes from Lethbridge, the coal country, to join the Gr Northern road at Great Falls, Montana, A branch is being built by the Canadian Pacific at Kootenay Lake in the Silkira moun tains, a region that abounds in minerals, particularly silver in the form of galena, and fully as attractive as anything at Helena or Butte. Mont. Illecmawaet station, near Glacier, is the best mineral point on the whole line of the Canadian Pacific road. Silver lead mines completely surround the place. There will be a marvelous boom in the next four months. "A new line of steamers has been established by the Canadian Pacific from Vancouver to China and Japan. Fast liners, able to compete with any in the world, will be put on, and at present many who returned to England by way of the Suez canal are avoiding the heat of the Mediterranean and taking the Canadian Pacific to Halifax. The growth of Winnipeg, Victoria and New Westminster is surprising, and they are keeping pace with Tacoma and Seattle. At no time in the history of the Canadian Pacific has there been so auch American travel as at present, and wise Europeans are finding their way to China, Japan and India by this route. The lumber trade is booming, and, in my mind, that is what is going to make Washington a great state.

THAT WHEAT STREET AFFAIR. It Will Probably Result In the Straighten

ing of the Street. Wheat street will probably be straightened. The negotiations all point that way.

Messrs. Hoke Smith, Ben H. Hill and Albert Howell were appointed as a subcommittee from the general committee appointed at last Saturday's meeting, to negotiate with the property-holders interested. subcommittee has been negotiating with Colonel L. P. Grant and others interested in the property between Peachtree and Prvor streets. The committee has virtually concluded that if the property adjacent to the King Hardware Company buildidg, owned by Colonel Grant, and that adjoining the vacant lot in the rear of the King Hardware Company, owned by T. M. Clark & Co., can be sold for a sum sufficient to meet the expenses incurred in condemning the property on the other side of the street, they will go ahead and straighten

The Masonic Temple Company has gener ously agreed that if Colonel Grant will pur-chase the property adjoining his building and pay enough to reimburse the city for condemning the property beyond the street, they will allow the line to run through the Temple Company's property, even if T. M. Clarke & Co. decline to purchase the portion adjoining their property. The Temple Company agrees to wait until the vacant property can be disposed of before asking any reimbursement.

Colonel Grant expressed himself as willing to deal generously in the matter, and T. M. Clarke & Co. have spoken in the same strain. So it is probable that the work of straightening the street will soon be begun and carried out to everybody's satisfaction.

THE WAY OF WEST END. One of the Handsomest Streets to Be Paved at Once. There was a meeting of the citizens of West End last evening. There were present the most enterprising of the business men and representative freeholders of West End, Mr.

B. J. Wilson being chairman. The object of the meeting was the discussion of the paving of Gordon street. After some discussion it was unanimously recommended that the street be paved with hard brick from the Chattahooehee Brick Company's works. A resolution was passed recommending that the decision of the mass meeting be presented to the town council, which meets next Monday night, for ratification. The paving with brick is more or less in the nature of an experiment, and if it proves satisfactory, other streets will be paved in like manner. This style of pavement has been tried with great success in other cities, and the trial here will be watched with great interest.

At all events, Gordon street, will be improved and beautified until there will be no prettier street in the city and suburbs.

The Official Action of the State Alliance

CONCERNING THE SENATORIAL RACE

A Demand that Anti-Alliance Candidates Be Not Voted For.

The senatorial situation is all the talk. That Governor Gordon will have opposi tion seems to be very generally conceded and the talk is about possible candidates. It remained for The Southern Alliance Farmer, the official organ of the state alliance, to furnish the sensation of the

The Alliance Demand. When, the day after General Gordon's speech, it was given out that the state alliance had reiterated its endorsement of the St. Louis platform, it was openly stated by alliancemen that it meant opposition to Gordon
It was also stated at the time that the reso that just such a demand was made.

The resolutions containing this demand were introduced by Hon. W. R. Gorman, of Talbot, and were unanimously adopted. They Whereas, There is a determined effort being

The Editorial. Speaking editorially of the senatorship, The Southern Alliance Farmer has the following to say:

The alliance of Georgia has reaffirmed its allegiance to the St. Louis platform, and the subtreasury bill is one of its principal features. The alliance has never demanded that candidates be committed to the specific details of this bill, but to the great principles of abundant and flexible currency based upon supply and demand, and backed by non-perishable farm products as security. In other words, this bill or something

The alliance people of Georgia have believed that General Gordon, in his candidacy for the United States senate, would get upon this broad and liberal platform, and thereby enable them to support him. We cannot estimate the disappointment which was expressed at the position which he took in his speech on Wednesday right. He deliberately placed himself where they cannot support him without a sacrifice of the very measure for which they are struggling. They even believe that he wants to be with them, but feel that there is a strong political organization which is holding him back. We all regret it but he has drawn the line himself and none but he can take away that barrier. This state of affairs leaves the alliance without a candidate whom it can support and there is no man before the people who will probably be a candidate, but Georgia is ever equal to the emergency, and a man for this one

Mr. Turner Talks. "It is a fact that Governor Gordon will have opposition for the senatorship," said Mr. J. H. Turner secretary of the national alliance, vesterday. "I know what I'm talking about, and I know it is certain that he will be opposed for the place. I can't say that it will be an allianceman that will take issues against him, but I can say that the alliance will see that a supporter of the subtreas ury bill will get the place if it is within the power of the order to do it. Oh! yes, there will be opposition to Governor Gordon."

Now, Who Will It Be? That is the question most asked.
"I'll tell you a good one," said a Columbia

ounty farmer who stood on the corner near the Alliance exchange yesterday afternoon.
"That is Tom Watson. Watson is just the right sort. He is a man of great ability, and ne stands squarely on the alliance platform." In the discussion which followed this suggestion such men as Judge James M. Smith and Judge Lawson, of Putnam, were men-

The last suggestion came from a Cherokee county allianceman. "I'll tell you whom we, ninth district alliancemen, would like to see the alliance standard bearer, and I don't believe there is a better man in the state. That is Judge Brown. The judge, you will remember, came out squarely for the subtreasury. Then when he saw that the other counties wanted Winn, he withdrew that all might be harmo-nious. So we all have a warm place in our hearts for him."

That talk was a sample of the discussions mong alliancemen and politicians over the senatorship.

But General Gordon's friends display no

But General Gordon's friends display no anxiety.

"Governor Gordon is stronger today than he ever has been," said a Gordon man at the Kimball, "and you'll see that he'll whip the fight with hands down. These would-be senators were too previous in shewing what they were after. If they had been quiet about it, and gone ahead electing their men to the legislature, they might have given General Gordon a good deal of ttrouble. But the newspaper publications killed that scheme. Do you notice that the different conventions are instructing senators and representatives to vote for Gordon? They're doing it right along."

And so goes the talk.

Judge Marshall J. Clarke, in chambers, yesterday, overruled the exceptions to the master's report in the case of Martin H. Dooley vs. W. S. Bell. The case grew out of the sale of real estate

The case grew out of the sale of real estate belonging to the Gannon estate by M. M. Thrasher, guardian, to Martin H. Dooley.

W. S. Bell afterwards purchased the property from Mrs. Celia Gannon.

A lawsuit resulted between the rival claimants, and a bill in equity was filed, Judge Marshall J. Clarke appointing Mr. W. D. Ellis as master in chancery.

The latter decided that the property should be sold, and the amount given by Dooley for the property, with legal interest, should be refunded to Dooly, the residue going to the defendant, W. S. Bell.

A bill of exceptions was filed to this report, fendant, W. S. Bell.

A bill of exceptions was filed to this report, and these exceptions were overruled by Judge Marshall J. Clarke yesterday.

The case will go to the supreme court.

PACIFIC ARE CONSIDERING. They Referred Their Complaints to the Richmond and Danville Management and Have Had No Answe

The conductors on the Georgia Pacific are at loggerheads with the management, and the situation may result in a strike on the road. The situation is this.

Four weeks ago they presented demands for an increase of wages, a change in the length of runs, and some other minor concessions; and these communications were regularly referred, through Superintendent C. P. Hammond, to the general officers of the Richmond and Dan ville. Four weeks have passed.

No answer have they received of any sort. The men are naturally impatient, and yesterday they had a committee call upon Superintendent Hammond at Birmingham.

He told them that he could do nothing in the matter except under instructions from th general management in Washington, and that he had no instructions whatever. The men insisted that they must have an answer at once. That is, within a day or two. "We do not want to go out," they are re-ported as saying, "but we will have to strike unless something is done." The feeling is strong.

"Our petition has been ignored," said one of the committee in Birmingham vesterday, "and we are going to strike if they keep that up. That's all there is about it.'

The strike of the conductors alone, it is be lieved, would not seriously cripple the road. A general participation by all the railroad employes would be quite another and more serious affair.

that its theory is correct.

There no longer exists in the minds of the publie any doubt that the ALASKA REFRIGERATOR dees produce dry, cold air in its provision chamber. A practical use for many years in various countries and climates has proved beyond question

The peculiar and scientific construction of the ALASKA creates a thorough and constant circulation, by which all vapors arising from foods in the provision chamber are condensed in the ice pan, and run off with the melting ice. Most refrigerators are so constructed that vapors from various kinds of food are chilled to bead drops of water within the provision chamber Hence such refrigerators are always damp and deleterious to health; and hence the instruction "to frequently wise the insisture from the provision chamber." In the ALASKA no vapors are allowed to remain; but, tby a perfect circulation of air, they are drawn through the flues into the ice chest and condensed

By thus removing the vapor all odor is removed—for the odor is in the vapor—and dry, pure, coid air fails into the provision chamber.

The provision chamber of the ALASKA never coats from condensation, but is always clean and free from foul odor.

Iree from foul odor.

It is on account of these excellent refrigerating qualities that the Alaska has become noted for being entirely free from mould, or mildew, or unpleasant odors, regardless of the length of time perishable articles of food may have been kept in it.

There Will Not Be Seating Room for the Apicants and All Non-Residents Have Been Refused for Awhile.

Major W. F. Slaton, superintendent of the olic schools, is one of the busiest men in Atlanta just now.

He issued over 200 tickets to applicants for seats in the public schools yesterday. Beginning last Monday morning, he has booked about one thousand pupils. The outlook is that there will be many more children than seats in the lower grades, but there will be room in the upper grades.

Major Slaton has not issued a single nonresident ticket, although there have been many applicants from abroad, ready and willing to pay the money, and only asking to be assured of seats. To these he has given the uniform answer that no non-residents will be granted admission tickets until the schools are opened, and then only on prepayment of the tuition for the four months' term in advance.

The admission of children into the schools will be regulated thus;

1. The children who were in school the last day of the term, and who were promoted to some other grade.

2. Those whose parents have removed from one school district to another, consequently changing the school. 3. The new applicants who come in the order of number of ticket and date.

A great many tickets bear the same date, and consequently the priority of admission is governed by the number. For instance, the tickets numbered 140, 141 and 142, all dated August 1st, would, if there were any trouble in seating all of them, come in the order of the numbers, No. 140 taking precedence.

No difference is made between the child of the governor and the child of the street car driver, but the old rule, "First come, first serve," without any favoritism whatever, i strenuously adhered to in giving places.

All applicants for positions in the high schools who were not regularly promoted from the grammar schools last term are expected to be present at the office of the superintendent Friday next, at 9 o'clock, for examination and assignment to grade.

All the teachers from both high schools are expected to be present to conduct the examinations and to make the assignments.

Ivy street, so far, shows the largest increase of any of the schools, except Walker, which latter is a double graded school. The board of education will meet on Thursday, at which time the election of teachers for the colored public schools will take place.

The schools open on Monday next, September 1st, and will be full to overflowing.

He already has seven, and if he keeps on at the present rate, he will have that many more before the year is out. The doctor is a well-known figure in Atlanta, but few people know how devoted he is to his mania for white horses. It would hardly be fair to give his name, because publicity might put him in a worse row of stumps than the Rome marchant who, refusinct advertise on the ground put him in a worse row of stumps than the Rome merchant who, refusing to advertise on the ground that nobody would read it, was horrified by having a thousand or so of cats delivered at his store early one day in response to a two-line notice printed in the newspaper which he thought unworthy of his patronage.

The doctor does not say very much about his pot, but whenever he runs across a white horse that suits him, especially if it be fresh from the west, he just buys it and sends it to the stable.

He does not buy white horses solely for the fun of it, however. He has a theory that there is a certain breed springing from the famous white steed of the plains, which if properly handled will produce racing stock of much speed, as has never yet been dreamed of. The doctor thinks he has the call, and hands out the dollars in hope of running across one of these white fiyers.

The strange part about the business is that the doctor don't seem to be as successful in getting rid of his milky steeds as in obtaining them.

There is a policeman on the Atlanta police force, who when he took up the billy and donned the brass badge, had not been long away from the

A regular partnership, or some sort of agree-ment, seems to exist between the old blind negro man who turns his little hand organ at the corner of Alabama and Broad streets, and the crippled nan who furnishes accordeon music on the Whitehall and Hunter street corner.

In the dusk of evening, after the day's toll is over, it is not uncommon to see the two together in the shadow of some stairway or alley counting their pennies.

Maybe it's the inception of a new sort of trustcorner on street begging. It has been rumored quite often since th

When the danger from the fire was over, Mr. Fletcher, who occupied the house, began looking about among his household goods, which were piled up in the street. "3. That the city government of Atlanta is run on a more economical scale than any northern city that I visited.

"4. That real estate is cheaper right now in Atlanta than it is in any of those populous cities of the north, although many of them are full grown, and there is no necessity for high prices in real estate."

"That is a very flattering showing."

"Nevertheless, it is all true, and I took especial pains to verify every conclusion before leaving a city that I went through. As an instance, I will cite Albany, N. Y., the capital of the state, and a very old city. It claims a population of 90,000. Give Atlanta the same amount of territory, and there would not be more than 12,000 difference. Albany pays tax on $60,000,000 worth of property. The assessment is 2 per cent. The appropriations are: For schools $200,000, for police $150,000, for fire $100,000, and others in proportion."

"And real estate?"

"I was told that property in several places had recently sold for $3,000 a front foot the high water limit here in Atlanta. After a thorough investigation of the municipal affairs of the principal cities of that country, I came to the conclusion that Atlanta is the lightest assessed, smallest taxed, cheapest governed and most inviting city in the union."

The Use of Quinine

There is no questioning the fact that quinine is a valuable medicine as a tonic, anti-periodic and anti-pyretic, and that its discovery has greatly helped the cause of medicine. Still in and anti-pyretic, and that its discovery has greatly helped the cause of medicine. Still in a majority of cases its use is not altogether satisfactory as it frequently deranges the system, producing headache, dizzy feelings, convulsions and sometimes even paralysis. It was the endeavor of the eminent Dr. John Bull, of Louisville, Ky., to invent a substitute for quinine, something that would have all the good qualities of quinine, and yet be entirely free from its evil tendencies. How admirably he succeeded is evidenced by the estimation in which his remedy Smith's Tonic Syrup is held by the people; where it is best known e-rerybody uses it in place of quinine and it never fails to give the very best of satisfaction. In cases of chills and fever it is absolutely a safe and certain cure.

the peculiar stone used in that sort of work, but its broken face and ragged edges have a mute, appealing look about them that reminds one of the days of alternate trial and triumph. Mr. Claude B. Clinkscales is a printer, whos residence is in this city, but whose native home is South Carolina. In the early summer he went on a visit to platives in that state, and during a short stay in Anderson he was informed that there were some curious fragments of stone to be seen in the old cemetery, called Mt. Tabor, near by.

Being of an inquiring turn of mind, he paid a visit to the cemetery, and in rambling around the deserted precincts of the "negro quarter," he stumbled over a piece of grayish looking stone, broken and discolored, but bearing evidences of having been used for some purpos in days a-gone. THE INVESTIGATION.

Mr. Clinkscales examined the stone carefully, and after brushing away the dust and mould with his handkerchief, he discovered two inscriptions upon it.

They were the ends of the engravings of two confederate ten-dollar bills, and on a closer inspection it was found that the delicate tracing of the engraver had not been erased or defaced by the action of the elements.

He rescued the stone from the mass of weed and brambles in which it was entangled, and carried it away with him.

In passing out of the cemetery he discovered another piece of stone very similar in appearance, doing duty as headstone for a negro's

Having already secured a more valuable specimen he refrained from confiscating the last find, although it was partly engraved, and was evidently a piece of the same stone that he held in his hands.

Among others was this stone. But the emergencies of the case grew so great that some of the stuff had to be aban doned, and among other articles these stones were sacrificed.

They were concealed in an old university near Anderson, where it was hoped the fed erals would not discover them.

BREAKING UP THE STONES. BREAKING UP THE STONES.

But not so.

The raiders were very quick-witted and keen-scented in those days, and they were not long in ferreting out the whereabouts of these now useless relics of a nation whose existence would soon be a thing of the past.

The principals in the case having eluded them, the troopers vented their spleen on the insensate stones, and they were soon broken into fragments and scattered to the four winds of heaven.

A large number of broken pieces were cast into a deep well near by, where they were afterwards discovered when the well was cleared out. By some means a number of pieces were col-lected by the negroes and carried to the ceme-tery, where, in accordance with the negro's innate love for anything odd and curious, they were used as headstones and ornaments for the graves.

So far as history and tradition can furnish facts, this is the story of the broken fragment of the lithographic stone, with the fac simile's of the confederate notes engraved on its pol-

RAILROAD GOSSIP.

HOME ELECTRIC RAILWAY COM-PANY, OF MACON, CHARTERED.

Rumored that Trainmaster Storey Will Resign-Captain John Gee May Fill the Position-Other Matters.

The Home Electric Railway Company, of Macon, was chartered yesterday by the secretary of state.

The incorporators are J. F. Heard, jr., David J. Baer, W. E. Jenkins, W. A. Doody, W. A. Lofton, A. C. Knapp, Peter Harris and Michael Dody. The line is to be three or four miles long, running from Macon to some point on the Houston county line, at or near Maxwell's bridge over the Ichiconnee creek. The capital stock is $25,000, with the privilege of increasing it to $100,000.

A Rumored Change. A Constitution special from Macon says: Trainmaster Storey, of the Central railroad, is to give up his position.

This was rumored on the street today, and upon investigation proved to be true.

He has not yet sent in his resignation, but will do so tonight or tomorrow, his resignation to take effect on September 1st. It is not known whether Mr. Storey has a better position in sight, or what his reasons are for resigning, but it is known he will not remain with the Central.

Mr. Storey is one of the best men in the serv-Mr. Storey is one of the best min in the service of the company, and they will regret to lose him. He has filled the position of trainmaster satisfactorily and with credit to himself, and is recognized as one of the best railroaders in this section. He is well able to fill even a this section. He is well able to infever a more important position than the one he is to vacate, and his services will be in demand.

His many friends in Macon hope he will decide to accept a responsible position here.

Now the Atlanta end of the story.

This cannot be verified now, but rumor has

This cannot be verified now, but rumor has it that Mr. John Gee, at present the district passenger agent of the Atlanta and West Point, has been offered the position and is expected to accept it.

Mr. Gee is not in the city, but the rumor is generally given credit.

Certainly a better selection could not be made for that position.

A Great Southern System.

A Great Southern System.

The Washington Post says: Norailroad has contributed more to the development of the country than the Richmond and Danville, when we consider the time it has been in operation and the distance it covers. Beginning with a main line only 140 miles in length, it now owns or operates under lease 2,300 miles, reaching all points south, and giving it consciouses preseminence as a thoroughfare in reaching all points south, and giving it conspicuous pre-eminence as a thoroughfare in that direction. This great system is doing for the south what other systems have done for the west, and the changes that have taken place along its lines by giving impetus to southern energy and enterprises are in the nature of a revelation to those who remember in what condition that section was left by the war and for some years after. The policy of the Richmond and Danville has been continually sagacious and public-spirited, and all travelers over the road speak in the highest terms of its excellent accommodations highest terms of its excellent accommodations and the evident determination of the manage-ment to strengthen its popularity with the and the evident determination of the management to strengthen its popularity with the public. This opinion is borne out by every one who has had business dealings with General Manager Randolph or General Passenger Agent Taylor at this end of the line, and what is true of the Washington officials is equally true of Atlanta, Birmingham and all other points on the road.

Facts About Side-Tracks.

It is not generally known that considerably more than one-fifth of the railroad mileage of this country is side-track.

But it is—including, second track, third track, fourth track, yard track, sidings and Tous the 149,948 miles of main line repre Thus the 149,948 miles of main line represented in official reports to the interstate commerce commission for the year ending June 30, 1889, mean a total track mileage of 191,001 miles. This includes second track 8,084 miles, third track 722 miles, fourth track 531 miles, third track 722 miles, fourth track 531 miles, and yard track, sidings and spurs 31,715 miles, aggregating 41,053 miles, which is equivalent to about 27½ per cent of the main single track line. Assuming the same proportion for the mileage since built, it may be said that on January 1, 1890, the total length of railway track of all kinds in the United States was 205,450 miles, of which 44,060 miles were tracks additional to the single main line. It is notable that only a little over 4 per cent of the entire mileage at present consists of second track, while a little over 16 per cent of the whole consists of yard track, siding and spurs. The mileage of second track, however, is steadily increasing.

The Knoxville Southern.

The Knoxville Southern.

The Railway Age says, in its last issue:
The completion of the Knoxville Southern railroad, just accomplished, is an event of no little importance to the south. The road, which is virtually an extension of the Marietta and North Georgia railroad from Blue Ridge, Ga., north to Knoxville, completes a continuous line from the last named place, nearly south, 223 miles, to Atlanta, Ga., the last eighteen miles from Marietta being covered by trackage arrangement with the Western and Atlantic company. The Knoxville Southern runs through a remarkably picturesque and beautiful country west of the Blue Ridge range, and the work has been pushed through with much energy and ability. The last seventy-five miles of track have been laid this year, and by use of a track-laying machine at each end remarkable speed in laying down the rails has lately been accomplished. At Knoxville the road connects with the Knoxville and Camberland Gaprailway which runs north sixty-nine miles to a connection with the Louisqille and Knoxville and Middleshorough near Cumberland railway which runs north sixty-nine miles to a connection with the Louisquille and Knoxville at Middlesborough near Cumberland Gap, so that there is now a continuous line of nearly 300 miles from the latter point by way of Knoxville to Atlanta, Ga., and south-western Tennessee and the adjacent country with speedily be revolutionized by the operations of this great great line of communication. Knoxville, which a few years ago was an almost inaccessible point at the end of a little stub road, now sees railways radiating from its center in six directions and is destined to become a city of great importance. tined to become a city of great importance.

Engines and Cars. The number of locomotives in the United States on June '30, 1889, is stated by the interstate commerce commissioner's statistician at 29,036, and the total number of cars of all kinds at 1,097,591; while Poor's Manual, sum-23,036, and the total number of cars of all kinds at 1,097,591; while Poor's Manual, summarizing the figures up to the end of the last fiscal year of the various railway companies, gives the number of 'ocomotives at 31,062 and the total number of 'revenue cars'' as 1,090,813. Considering that these two independent statements are for periods a few months apart, they agree remarkably well as to the number of cars, although a difference of over 2000 in the number of locomotives seems somewhat too large for the difference of dates.

Under One Head.

Under One Head.

Under One Head.

Mr. Sam Beall, the well-known ticket agent of the Richmond.and Danville, is just back from the first annual meeting of the ticket agents in Denver. It was a great trip. The ticket agents assembled at Chicago, 350 strong, leaving there Sunday morning, the 10th, in eleven Pullman sleepers; breakfasting at Kansas City and dining at Topeka; arriving at Denver next morning ahead of time. They were royally treated here—music, flowers, banquets, opera, riding and what not. They said one performance in Denver at the Taber grand opera house, the finest in America and perbaps in the world. It cost $850,000. They went to Silver Plume, going 1,000 feet under the surface of the earth to the mines; and rode in the first broad-gauge train that ever went to Salida, and from there to Marshall pass, 10,852 feet above the sea level, the second highest point on earth that is reached by a milroad. They went up Pike's peak on the cog-wheel road; visited Colorado Springs and Manitou, the Saratoga of the west. They visited Gunnison and other points of interest, and everywhere they were treated superbly. At St. Louis they visited Shaw garden, and nearly everything else of interest in the city, including the Anheuser-Busch brewery, with a capacity this year of 1,000,000 barrels. The badges were very pretty; that one given at Kansas City being in the form of a railroad ticket, with coupons. It was of blue ribbon, with this inscription in old gold:

Good for
ONE FIRST-CLASS TIME

1. In accepting this ticket I agree to come again.

2. It is good for stop-over as long as you wish.

3. It is good for stop-over as long as you wish.

3. It will never be void.

4. It is unlimited, free and wide open.

ALL Good Fellows.

Ticket Agents.

At Denver they received a pressing invitation from the Chamber of Commerce to visit that city, and about one hundred ticket agents were able to accept the invitation.

It was a memorable trip; going to demonstrate, in round numbers, that western hospitality is as genuine and substantial as that of the south or of any other hospitable country.

The mayor of Denver assured the ticket agents, in welcoming them to the city, that "the laws were suspended for their benefit; anything short of murder being permissible."

Ticket Agent E. E. Kirby, of the East Tennessee, accompanied by his wife, attended the ticket agents' convention at Denver. From there they left for San Francisco and a tour of the Pacific slope, to be gone several days yet.

A sistant General Passenger Agent Kight, of the East Tennessee, is in New York, and Mr. Thad Sturgis is acting in his place.

Mr. A. A. Vernoy. of the Georgia Pacific, is just back from the T. P. A. association annual at Buffalo.

The Georgia Midland and Gulf has recently placed orders for 100 ventilated cars, thirty other freight cars and two passenger cars.

Railroad Matters in South Carolina. Railroad Matters in South Carolina.

CHARLESTON, S. C., August 25.—[Special.]—
Representatives of the three roads entering here go to Columbia tomorrow for a conference with the railroad commissioners. It is said all othet roads in the state will be represented. Rumor has it that a proposition will be discussed of having separate cars for the races, and that the question of uniform low rates for public uses will be also discussed. C. S. Gadsden, of the Charleston and Savannah railroad; T. M. Emerson, of the Atlantic Coast Line, and S. B. Pickens, of the South Carolina railway, go from this place.

The Southern Way.

Thomasville, Ga., August 25.—[Special.]—
While the Central employes up north are striking, and dissatisfied, the Plant system down south has voluntarily raised the pay of conductors in all of the first-classes $10 per month. The pay of the flagmen has also been increased from $50 to $40 per month, and the rate of promotion is now much shortened.

J. W. BYRAM, Observer. EDITOR OF THE CONSTITUTION: On Tuesday

EDITOR OF THE CONSTITUTION: On Tuesday last, in printing what presumably was a gratuitous trade herald, announcing the opening of a new clothing store, The Journal was made to state that one of the proprietors thereof was for many years a partner in the long established business of Elseman Bros.

The reporter was either misinformed, or in his zeal fie blundered badly in transcribing and developing his news notes. The highly seasoned introduction certainly places this contemporaneous dealer in a false and undeserved position, and we decidedly object to any one advertising a rival concern through the reputation we have won.

Mr. Jacob Elseman, the gentleman referred to, was for many years an employe—not a member of our firm, which is composed of brothers only.

About twelve years ago, before this business had attained anything approaching its present power and importance, he was associated with us, in our Atlanta store only, for a few brief months. That is the limit of any partnership that ever existed so far as he was interested.

The enterprise and industry which created and continues to direct the destiny of our three metropolitan establishments is due entirely to the present owners and managers.

Our former clerks and namesakes are at perfect liberty to branch out for themselves, and we heartily wish them the largest success; at the same time we shall streamonsly oppose all efforts made to impress the public wrongfully regarding their past connections and relations with us. Respectfully, Atlanta, Ga., August 25, 1890.

The warrant which brought Mr. Berryhill to Atlanta to be tried was issued at the instance of Mrs. I. M. Stout, who charged him with steeling jewelry from the mails.

The evidence, as related by the witnesses in the case, tells the following story:

After sending several times to the Rome postoffice without receiving the expected valuables, she finally decided to go and inquire Confronted at the window by Mr. Berryhill, the clerk, she modestly inquired if the package had come, describing it as nearly as possible.

With a smile, the genial clerk informed her that the package hadn't arrived, but she saw one of her studs in the fellow's shirt, and lost no time in telling him she recognized it as her own.

To this he replied with utmost courtesy, assuring her that she was mistaken.

INSPECTOR BOOTH'S WORK.

Postoffice Inspector Booth was sent to Rome to look after the case.

The arrest of Mr. Berryhill soon followed, and he owned up that he had taken the stud from the package in the mail.

He accounts for his behavior by telling that the package containing the jewelry was badly smashed up in the mail pouch, and had been placed upon a shelf for reclamation.

One evening while dressing to go home from the office, he saw one of the study hanging from the package, and carelessly decided to wear it that night, fully intending to return it the next day.

the next day.

But this he forgot to do, and hence the trouble that follows.

He waived trial and his case will come up before the next term of the United States

FOR SIXTEEN YEARS.

LIVING TOGETHER AS MAN AND

And Still Unmarried—The Queer Allegations Embodied in a Petition Filed by a Woman Yesterday.

For sixteen years as man and wife-yet still nnmarried.

The story contained in a petition filed by Della Hardeman in the clerk's office of Fulton county yesterday, is possibly without parallel in court annals in this city. Right here in the heart of Atlanta, if her legations be true, she has lived and cohabited with a man as his wife during that long period of time. They have reared a family of children, and have accumulated a snug little property and have never been wedded. THE STORY TOLD.

The petition synopsised sets forth that Della Hardeman, formerly Della Boyd, began to live with Columbus L. Hardeman as his wife

They continued to live together as husband and wife, but never married, although Hardeman promised her time and again to make her his legal wife.

In 1882 she had saved up $110 in cash, and he had accumlated $100. They agreed to put the money into a restaurant and grocery store, which they did. Hardeman sold several pieces of furniture and a milch cow belonging to the petitioner, which brought $60, and with her consent this was added to the general fund, giving her $170 and himself $100 in cash, making the entire fund $270. With this they began business at to. 529 Marietta street. The restaurant and the store both proved prosper-ous ventures, and when the restaurant was abandoned and all their attention turned to the store, the latter proved to be a paying inrestment.

They worked together, the petitioner doing all the household work and other duties, besides helping in the store.

THEY RAISED A FAMILY.

Petitioner alleges that she worked very hard in the business for the sake of herself and her alleged husband, who was the father of the several children born to them.

All went along very well, and with money belonging to the business, Hardeman, in 1889, purchased two lots of land for $600, the understanding being that they were to be joint proprietors in the property.

standing being that they were to be joint proprietors in the property.

On April 15, 1889, Hardeman got into trouble because of a prosecution brought against him, and persuaded petitioner to absent herself for a few days until the trouble passed over.

She did this and remained away for some time. On her return she found that the man with whom she had lived so long had repudiated her and refused to recognize her or her rights as a wife or as a business partner, and that he had deeded the property to his mother for a trifling consideration.

for a trifling consideration.

This caused her to bring the suit against him and in the petition she alleges that the business is now worth $1,500 and the two city lots $1,200, of all of which she is entitled to her prorata share, 170-270, this being the amount she originally put into it.

She asks a restraining order from the court and also the appointment of a receiver.

Mr. Eugene Mitchell represents the plaintiff in the case.

A DESERVED COMPLIMENT. Comptroller General Wright Compliments

Tax Receiver Loyd. Mr. John H. Loyd, Fulton county's worthy tax receiver, has completed his digest and forwarded it to the controller general. Yesterday he received the following compli-

Yesterday he received the following complimentary letter in reply:

STATE OF GEORGIA—COMPTROLLER GENERAL'S OFFICE, ATLANTA, August 21. John H. Loyd, R.T.R., Fulton county:—Dear Sir: Your digest for 1830 received, and it affords me pleasure to testify to the able and faithful manner in which you have discharged the duties of your office, as evidenced by an unusually neat and correct digest and by the very large increase in the returns. Very respectfully,

W.A. WRIGHT,

Comptroller General.

Mr. Loyd put in a lot of good work on his digest, and it was due largely to his carnest labors that there was such a handsome increase in taxable property returned.

He will be a candidate for re-election, and will make a formal announcement in a few days of his candidacy.

Wonders

Are wrought by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor in restoring gray hair to its original color, promoting a new growth, preventing the hair from falling, keeping it soft, silky, and abundant, and the scalp cool, healthy, and free from dandruff or humors. The universal testimony is that this preparation has no equal as a dressing, and is, therefore, indispensable to every well-furnished toilet.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for some furnished toilet.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for some time and it has worked wonders for me. I was troubled with dandruff and was rapidly becoming bald; but since using the Vigor my head is perfectly clear of dandruff, the hair has ceased coming out, and I now have a good growth, of the same color as when I was a young woman. I can heartily recommend any one suffering from dandruff or loss of hair to use Ayer's Hair Vigor as a dressing."—Mrs. Lydia O. Moody, East Pittston, Me.

"Some time ago my wife's hair began to come out quite freely.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

not only prevented my wife from becoming bald, but it also caused an entirely new growth of hair. Fam ready to certify to this statement before a justice of the peace."— H. Hulsebūs, Lewisburgh, Iowa.

"Some years ago, after a severe attack of brain fever, my hair all came out. I used such preparations for restoring it as n.y phy-sicians ordered, but failed to produce a growth of hair. I then tried, successively, several articles recommended by driggists, and all alike fell short of accomplishing the desired result. The last remedy I applied was Ayer's Hair Vigor, which brought a growth of hair in a few weeks. I think I used eight bottles in two years; more than was necessary as a restorative, but I liked it as a dressing, and have continued to use it for that purpose. I believe Aye.'s Hair Vigor possesses virtues far above those of any similar preparation now on the _narket."

IT GOES OVER, 4ND WILL BE TAKEN UP THIS MORNING. Mr. Aldrich Introduces the Agreement Between the Senators, But Mr. Plumb Has It Laid Aside Until Today. WASHINGTON, August 25 .- The senate met at 10 o'clock a. m. The resolution heretofore offered by Mr. Plumb to prohibit the sale of spirituous, vinous or malt liquors in the senate wing of the capitol was taken up, but in the nce of Messrs. Blair and Butler, who had offered amendments, it went over until to-The tariff bill was then taken up. Mr. Al-drich referred to the unusual length of the dis-cussion that has taken place on the tariff bill, and said that that fact and the knowledge shared by all that the business of the country was in a state of anxious suspense awaiting re-mults, necessitated a speedy solution of the question. The senate deliberations led him to ask the senators on the other side to consider the

He made the suggestion, not for the purpose of preventing ample discussion on the remaining paragraphs in the bill, but because he believed that the orderly disposition of the public business, as well as the convenience of senators, required an arrangement of that kind. He would be glad to hear from senators on the other side, if they had senators on the other side, if they had any proposition to make in this regard.

Mr. Gorman said that it had been an honored custom of the senate on all revenue measure and legislation necessary for the conduct of the government, that after a full and free discussion the senate come to the same agreement as to the time for taking a vote. That custom had always enabled the senate to discuss, fairly and freely, all such measures. There had been heretofore a demonstration of the wisdom of the senate's rule for unlimited debate, but there always arrived a time when an agreement, such as that now proposed, was made. He, therefore, thought that he was perfectly at liberty to speak for his colleagues when he said that they would be very glad if the senator in charge of the bill had any suggestions to make, that he would make it now.

SENATOR ALDRICH'S PROPOSITION. Mr. Aldrich-I have prepared a proposition, which I ask unanimous consent to have

The paper was read. It proposed that consideration of the tariff bill shall be continued to the exclusion of all other tusiness, except to the exclusion of all other tusiness, except appropriations.

Mr. Aldrich—My suggestion is that the general debate shall close on the 1st of September. It is merely a suggestion. I am quite willing, if senators on the other side, or on this side, think that the time proposed is not sufficient, to consent to any reasonable extension.

Mr. Gorman—I am aware that in the consideration of this bill we have spent twenty-four days, and that the long hours of daily sittings from 10 o'clock till 6 o'clock have taxed us all to an extent that has not been beneficial to health, at all events, and have possibly delayed somewhat the progress of the bill. As compared with any bills and conference reports to and including September 1st, subject to general debate, and during September 2d, 3d and 4th, subject to the five-minute rule in debate, no senator shall speak on any one question more than once; and that on September 5th, and thereafter, consideration shall be continued on.

Mr. Aldrich—Then I offer a memorandum, in the form of an amendment to the rules, and I give notice that I will ask, tomorrow, for a modification of the rules in accordance with

AGAINST A CHANGE OF RULES. Mr. Gorman-I trust that the senator from Rhode Island will not pursue that course. I do not think that it will be necessary. I am entirely within bounds twhen I say that every senator on this side will agree to the terms proposed.

Mr. Aldrich—I do not think that the arrangement ought to fail from the objection of a senator or of the minority, if it is satisfactory to a large majority of the body, and it is for the purpose of avoiding the possibility of that that I have given notice.

Mr. Gorman suggested that, if the daily hours of sittings were not sufficient, evening

Mr. Gorman suggested that, if the daily hours of sittings were not sufficient, evening sessions might be held.

Mr. Harris said that he understood Malliumb's object in having the order go over till tomorrow to be only that he might look into it. In all human probability the senator from Rhode Island could get unanimous consent to the order tomorrow. He, therefore, suggested that the step proposed to amend the rules was nunecessary.

Mr. Aldrich thereupon withdrew the notice, but said he would ask for unanimous consent but said he would ask for unanimous consent tomorrow morning.

The tariff bill was laid aside.

The house bill for the erection of a tower of the first order for a light on Smith island, Va., (not to cost more than $150,000) was taken from the calendar and passed, with numerous amendments, making an appropriation for light houses and fog signals in various other parts of the country and a conference was asked.

Messrs. Dolph, Washburn and Ransom were appointed conferees on the part of the

ON THE TARIFF BILL AGAIN. The tariff bill was again taken up, the pending question being on paragraph 193, page 45, imposing a duty of one and a half cents per imposing a duty of one and a half cents per pound on lead ore and lead dross, provided that silver ore and all other ores containing lead shall pay a duty of one and a half cents per pound on the lead contained therein, according to sample and assay at port of entry.

Mr. Aldrich expressed his willingness to have the memorandum modified as suggested by Mr. Gorman. It was, therefore, modified so as to continue the general discussion up to and including Wednesday, September 3d; to have five minutes' debate on Thursday the 4th, Friday the 5th and Saturday the 6th; and to fix Monday, September 8th and thereafter for consideration of the bill and amendments without debate—three hours to be allowed to each side for general debate, and then a final vote to be taken on the passage of the bill.

The presiding officer (Mr. Ingalls) asked whether there was any objection to having the order entered

Mr. Plumb objected, and asked to have the latter go over till tomorrow. It seemed to him that the time asked for in the order was too short. At all events there should be some division of time, although he was not prepared to make a suggestion on that point. The most important things to be taken into account had yet to come before the senate; for instance, about what was to be done in restraint of trasts; about reciprocity; about the effect of the bill on revenues and as to whether there would be money enough to carry on the government if the bill became a law. All these things had to be taken into account. While he was willing to take the chances as other senators were, he did not care to do so, until he had, at least, time to consider the proposition. He had not known anything about it in advance, except in a certain way, and he thought that it should go over till tomorrow.

Mr. Plumb moved to amend the paragraph by reducing the duty on lead ore from 14 cents a pound to 2 of a cent. He thought that it senate was coming to the point where the system of protection would result in breaking down certain home industries for the benefit of other industries, and where the larger industries were to destroy the smaller ones. Some perception of that fact, the thought, was being gained in quarters that had been heretofore somewhat intolerant on the position of certain persons toward the tariff bill. He had been recently read out of the republican party by a New York paper, The Tribune; and now he had a copy of the same paper which complained of a certain provision in the bill as being for the benefit of a certain industry and for the injury of certain persons toward the trains based on observation, and has no other basis. Anobject on the earth. The statement that discharges are invariably from the sky to the earth. If the reasoning of the objections be correct, what is here to support the beory that the passage is always from the sky to the earth. If the reasoning of the objections be correct, what is here to support th by the tariff of 1883, to remain, except on positive and overwhelming testimony that the duties were too high or too low, there was a general increase of duties all along the line in the pending bill, the effect of which would be, in his judgement, to hurt as many American industries as they would help. The pending paragraph was one of these cases. A member of the present congress, to whom he had spoken as to the people becoming restive under the high duties proposed, had said to him that that might be so for a time, but they would get used to it. "That might be," Mr. Plumb said; "there was no back so weak, perhaps, that it would not bear a little more."

Mr. Stewart argued against the amendment, and in favor of the duty on lead ore as proposed in the paragraph.

In the course of his remarks, he approunced

Mr. Stewart argued against the amendment, and in favor of the duty on load ore as proposed in the paragraph.

In the course of his remarks, he announced his opposition to taking the duty off of sugar.

Mr. Teller also advocated the adoption of the paragraph as reported, and asserted that the contest was one between the lead trust, in combination with the smelters, and the miners of the Rocky mountains. Those miners were 50,000 strong, and they consumed more of New England's products per capita than any set of men living anywhere else. They consumed more of the agricultural products of Kansas and Nebraska than the whole of Mexico consumed, and Kansas was indebted to the miners of Colorado for whatever prosperity she enjoyed. He was not, therefore, exactly pleased when the senator from that state insisted that he wanted to secure the trade of Mexico, and was willing to put the labor of Colorado, Montana and Idaho side by side with the 40 cent labor of Mexico.

Mr. Teller said that if the lead duty was shorn from the bill—the only thing in it for the benefit of the great northwest—there would not be a republican in that region in favor of the bill; and that there should not be.

Mr. Jones, of Nevada, also opposed the question of fixing a date of closing the debate and of having a final vote on the passage of the informally.

Mr. Coke moved to amend by striking out the provise and inserting a provise that ores containing silver and lead, in which lead is of less value than silver, shall be admitted free of duty. He spoke in advocacy of his amendment and was followed and supported by Messrs. Carlisle and Reagan.

Messrs. Carlisle and Reagan.

Messrs. Cameron, Cullom and Faulkner were appointed a committee on part of the senate to attend the funeral of Representative Watson, and the senate adjourned.

THE SUNDRY CIVIL BILL.

The House Adopts the Conference Report-Representative Watson's Death. WASHINGTON, August 25.—In his prayers this morning the chaplain made a feeling allusion to the sudden death of Representative Watson, of Pennsylvania. Mr. Cannon submitted the conference report on the sundry civil appropriation bill.

Mr. Cannon explained that in a former conference all disagreements had been settled except disagreements on senate amendments relative to irrigation and to the survey of public lands. The senate had placed legislation of wide-reaching importance on the bill.

The house conferees would have been glad to have dispussed with any legislation.

The house conferees would have been glad to have dispensed with any legislation, but the senate conferees had insisted upon it. The report was the result of a compromise. The legislation of 1888 withdrawing lands from sale west of the one hundredth meridian was so medified that all entries made in good faith up to the time of the passage of this act were validated, except entries on reservoir sites which have been selected. Reservoir sites which have been selected are reserved, as under the law of 1888; and reservoir sites hereafter to be selected, are reserved from the date of their selection. In future, whenever public lands are occupied by claimants with a view to obtaining title, the claimant can obtain title from the government under all land laws to 320 acres only.

The conference report was agreed to by The conference report was agreed to by

The conference report was agreed to by unanimous consent.

The senate amendments (which have not been acted upon) to the river and harbor bill were non-concurred in and a conference ordered.

Saturday, September 13th, was set apart for the delivery of eulogies to the late Senator Beck, of Kentucky.

Then Mr. O'Neill of Pennsylvania, rose and announced the death of his colleague, Mr. Watson, the third member from Pennsylvania who has died in Washington this session. The house adopted the customary resolutions of regret, and for the appointment of a committee to superintend the funeral and then adjourned.

A National Literature.

From The Chicago News. It is as natural for a young people to copy older ones as for an infant to imitate motions and sounds. In the course of nature the infant passes beyond the stage of imitation. When a nation, born in the throes of revolution, has attained through years of heroic youth and manhood the dignity that is ours today as the greatest republic on earth, its life may reasing. greatest republic on earth, its life may reasonably be expected to exhibit individuality.

For a reflection of the character of a people we look to its literature; nothing is better able to show forth the daily life and the spirit of a nation than its fiction. The novel and the shortstory of all lands, merely in their national significance, afford a study of wonderful insignificance, afford a study of wonderful interest.

The American life of today is a copy of nothing. It is absolutely unique. Nor is it lacking in the most decided elements of romance and of the picturesque. Where its spirit has been eaught—perhaps best by Hawthorne—it has yielded everything essential for the most stiring effects. If it were not so—if we had no originality—our writers had better remain copyists, for when they cease to be that, they would become nothing.

It is to be confessed that our literature has been too long out novelists have gone abroad for their novellsts.

Let the writers look at home for their subjects, and when they grasped the spirit of jects, and when they have grasped the spirit of American national life they will find a burst of appreciation on the part of the people. But let the writer that would be successful rid him-self of the idea that novels of New York drawself of the idea that novels of New York drawing rooms are American stories. The attempt —now being made—to foist them as such, either on us or those who judge us by our fiction, is a shameful fraud. Let him get out among the neople, breathe American air, look over American fields, acquaint himself with American flowers and brids, visit American cities, and he will find springing up around material for the best literature the world has seen.

This national life has already been pictured in our short stories. As yet no great novelist is with us, but we have become the best short-story tellers in the world. Those who are to inaugurate an American literature are in training. And the dawning of it signifies the reality of our life, strong, secure, everywhere an inspiration to the cause of human freedom.

ONE ENJOYS 30th the method and results when Syrup of Figs is taken; it is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and cures habitual constipation. Syrup of Figs is the only remedy of its kind ever produced, pleasing to the taste and acceptable to the stomach, prompt in its action and truly beneficial in its effects, prepared only from the most healthy and agreeable substances, its many excellent qualities commond it to all and have made it mend it to all and have made it the most popular remedy known.

Syrup of Figs is for sale in 50c and $1 bottles by all leading druggists. Any reliable druggist who may not have it on hand will procure it promptly for any one who wishes to try it. Do not accept any substitute.

THE STOCK MARKET. The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, August 25.—There was a decidedly easier feeling in the money market today, and rates on call were again down to a reasonable basis, although they would be called very high at basis, although they would be called very high at any other time. The squeeze being temporarily checked, the street had time to look at other factors in the situation, and more attention was paid to the threatened strike than for the past few days. The general opinion on the street, however, is that there will be no strike of importance, and should it really come that it has been fully discounted. The bluster is likely to be kept up, however, and until the question is settled one way or another, it remains as a cloud upon the market, restricting operations for the long side of the account, while the recent heavy decline and enlargement of the short interest, together with the fact that stocks have gone into stronger hands, make ment of the short interest, together with the lact that stocks have gone into stronger hands, make the bears shy of extending their lines any more at present. The market, consequently, again relapsed into something like the recent dullness and stag-nation in prices, and although there were some marked movements in the list, final changes show only small fluctuations for the day. While high rates for money have disappeared, the feeling of uneasiness is likely to continue until sufficient money has come out to put the reserve of banks at a comfortable figure above legal requirements. Today, however, toward the close, there was a de-cline to below the legal rate, and stocks responded ediately, although it is beyond doubt that no material ventures were entered into on account of it. There was the same scarcity of stocks today that was such a feature last week, and any attempt to buy at once advanced prices, and covering op-erations were, therefore, small, and the short interest lemains at about the same figure still. Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis became conspicuous in the last hour for strength.

Exchange quiet and barely steady at 4831/c@4.87. Money easier at 2@15; last loan at 2, closing of-ered at 2. Sub-treasury balances: Coin $160,136,000; currency, $8,626,000. Governments dull but steady to firm; 4s 1251/4;

The close was dull but firm to strong, generally at small fractions better than the first prices. Sales aggregated 88,000 shares of listed and 31,000 une Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Circular.

NEW YORK, August 25—[Special.]—Sales on the spot in Liverpool today were s,000 bales, and the near positions at 1 o'clock were appoint above Saturday's closing. This was considered a poor response to the advance of Saturday here, and this market at the opening, though well supported on September. was about 3 points below Saturday's close. The feeling, however, was firm and it was September. was about 3 points below Saturday's close. The feeling, however, was firm, and it was not until rumors of a drop of 4 points in Liverpool, coupled with suggestions of the entire collapse of the bull movement and its most conspicuous leader, that a selling movement set in here, which only culminated at the close with prices on August and September respectively 30 and 26 points lower than on Saturday. The distant months have also been quite weak today, and have sympathized quite substantially in the decline. The utter demoralization which is developing in Liverpool makes opinions as to the further course of prices valueless, but cotton at 6d in the foreign markets is hardly above its intrinsic value.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions. CHICAGO, August 25-Wheat-Active, and the market weaker and unsettled. The opening was 1/26/4c under the closing figures of Saturday, held barely steady for a short time and then became weak and declined 11/8c, rallied 1/8c, again broke off 11/c, or to inside figures, and the closing was 17/c ower for December and 2c lower for May than the losing figures of Saturday. Corn was moderately active until near the close, when it was more active. The feeling was easier, due to better reports from the interior, larger receipts and the decline in wheat. The first trades were at 14.634c decline, after which the market firmed up some, advancing %c, again sold off %@ 1c, ruled steady and closed with 1@1%c decline.

Oats were fairly active, but weaker and unsettled. At the start a good demand existed and prices advanced 3.00% Buyers were soon filled up, and offerings became large. The market had little support, and prices receded 3.00%, and the market closed easy at about inside figures.

Mess pork—Only a moderate trade, offerings fair and demand moderate. Prices on the whole range declined 21/2@5c and closed steady at inside

Lard-Trading was only fair, and the feeling easier. Offerings were not very large and the demand fair. Prices on the whole range declined 2½ 65c, and closed steady at inside figures. Short ribs—Weak, and prices declined 7½@10c. Offering s were quite free, but the demand was good. At the decline there was an active inquiry, and prices rallied slightly, and the market closed steady. The following was tures in Chicago tod:	the rai	ngo in the le	eading fu-
